

'Zero Hour' Is Believed Near In Undeclared War in Orient

Both Japanese, Chinese Prepare for Wide-spread Conflict

BATTLE EXPECTED Threat of Conflict Spreads to Hankow, In Central China

By the Associated Press
The month-old Chinese-Japanese undeclared war approached today what military observers called a "zero hour" before expected wide-spread hostilities.

Opposing forces along the Peiping Hankow railroad seemed rapidly nearing a collision. To the north of Peiping, a clash was considered imminent along China's great wall.

The threat of conflict spread to the central China city of Hankow, and Americans were reported fleeing across the Yellow river to safety in the south.

Japan poured men and munitions into the trouble zone. China rushed central army units from Hankow to the north. Prepared for conflict, Japan evacuated 2,500 Japanese citizens from the Hankow area, leaving only 500 civilian Japanese males and a garrison of 300 troops.

Japan's war minister told parliament more troops were being rushed to North China. He said the empire might be forced to abandon its policy of "non-aggravation" if Chinese attempt to recover the conquered Peiping and Tientsin area.

No American Fliers?

Japanese foreign Minister Koki Hirota assured parliament the United States government is "carefully guarding against reported attempts to enlist American aviators for the Chinese army."

Hirota also told parliament that if China would join the Japanese-German pact against communism, peace could be firmly established in eastern Asia. He has established abolition of communism in China as one of the main points of Japanese policy.

Previously the Tokio government had been reported ready to call Washington's attention to Los Angeles dispatches quoting Russell L. Hearn as declaring 182 American pilots were ready to go to China to fly Chinese war planes.

Hirota declared the United States government would be alert to stop "any such action."

May Leave Missions

Temporary suspension of American missionary activity in North China because of hostilities is "most likely," Shochi Muroa, general secretary of the Tokio Y. M. C. A., told the Associated Press.

He said, however, that fears of American missionaries that missions would be wiped out were groundless.

Japan was gradually establishing civil as well as military control over the North China area through creation of so-called Chinese autonomous regimes with Japanese advisers.

Press dispatches from Peiping said the Hopen-Chahar political council would be replaced in the near future by a Hopen-Chahar assembly in which all districts of the two provinces would be represented.

At Peiping, Chinese predicted that synchronized Japanese offensives north and south would range out from this hub of undeclared war.

Unidentified Planes Attack British and Italian Ships; Rebel Stronghold Menaced

By the Associated Press
Warplanes of unstated nationality bombed the British tanker British Corporal and the Italian steamer Mongolia today off the coast of Algeria, near war-torn Spain.

The tanker reached Algiers safely, with none of her crew injured. The Italian ship, bombed a few hours later, flashed an S O S telling of the attack. Neither ship was bound for a Spanish port.

In the war area, insurgent commanders admitted today that a powerful government siege force, including the rejuvenated Catalan army, virtually had encircled Franco's upper Aragon stronghold, Huesca.

Aerial Attacks

Government troops were reported facing "almost impregnable" insurgent fortifications on three sides of the city and government air squadrons were blasting it from the skies.

Since the start of the month-old campaign against Huesca, 50,000 government bombs and shells were estimated to have crashed into the ancient capital.

Almost 500 civilians were said to have been killed in these bombardments.

Huesca, where dwell the kings of ancient Aragon, is about 210 miles northeast of Madrid and about 140 miles northwest of Barcelona, capital of autonomous Catalonia, the Madrid-Valencia ally.

Building Fortifications

Southwest of Teruel the government "militicians" were struggling to build a wall of fortifications between Franco's legions and the Madrid-Valencia road, vital link between the present and former government capitals.

They were said to have inflicted heavy losses on the insurgents in a battle yesterday which gave the government the mountain village of Frías, 26 miles west of Teruel.

Insurgent artillery again pumped several hundred shells into Madrid, killing several persons and wounding others.

The onslaught lasted several hours with most of the shells falling along Gran Via, the city's "Broadway," Alcala street and districts around Puerta del Sol.

Reply to Attack

Government batteries opened a fierce counter-fire and the former capital echoed to the thunderous duels.

While thousands, huddled in places of refuge, however, a cool-headed city employee whose job it is to sprinkle the streets in this hot weather, went about his business as usual.

Communications from both sides reported demoralization in the other.

HELD FOR EXTORTION

Wilber Roth (above), caretaker of a building in the Bronx, was arrested by federal authorities in New York on a charge of attempting to extort $2,000 from George Palmer Putnam by claiming Amelia Earhart, Putnam's wife, was a patient on a ship near New York and would be surrendered upon payment of the money.

Coalition Again Shelves Murphy's Labor Proposals

Some Michigan Democrats Join Republican Bloc In Opposition

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—An unyielding legislative coalition left Governor Frank Murphy's labor reform program stranded for the second time today.

An attempt to push it through in modified form failed Thursday night. Republican members stood firm against it and were joined by some Democrats. Having defeated the bill, the legislature adjourned, evidently, foreclosing its revival.

Technically the current special session will exist until next Wednesday, but there was no prospect of a quorum in either house at any time.

Murphy promptly announced there will be a second extraordinary session in the late fall or in January. He said he will resubmit the bill, the legislature adjourned, and in addition will ask that the legislature produce new revenues or reduce appropriations to balance the budget, enact laws to permit cooperative expansion of rural electrification, and establish maximum hours and minimum wages for women and minors.

The net result of the session which began last Friday and ended, as far as the legislature's business is concerned, at midnight last night, was a civil service law and an act providing that in school districts which elect to come under its provisions teachers may not be ousted after serving a two year probationary term without a unanimous vote of the school board. The governor's maximum hour bill for women, submitted Thursday, was defeated by the house while the senate was killing the labor relations measure.

Because of the senate deadlock, there was talk in administration circles of seeking a seventeenth Democratic vote. The count now stands 16 Democrats and 15 Republicans. To pass any measure 17 votes are required. The member who might provide the needed extra vote—Senator A. J. Wilk—was serving a prison term for election recount fraud.

200 Men Damage Two Automobile Agencies

Minneapolis—(AP)—A crowd of men estimated at 200 raided two automobile agencies involved in a strike of automobile salesmen today, smashing cars and fixtures with damage set by operators at $38,000.

W. R. Stephens said damage to his sales agency, where 15 private cars were wrecked, tires cut and office furniture smashed would total $7,000. He also estimated the number of raiders.

At the nearby Northwest Nash company, C. S. Conner, president, said rear doors were smashed open and six cars damaged, with loss of $1,000 to $1,500.

Leo Mitchell, business agent for the union, however, asserted that there was no violence on the part of strikers today.

Refuse to Let Watchman Enter Plant at Oshkosh

Oshkosh—(AP)—Striking employees of the Wisconsin Match Corp. refused yesterday to allow watchmen to enter the plant following a breakdown of negotiations in the month-old strike.

Francis B. Gerhardt, president of the Match Workers' council, said the watchmen would not be permitted to re-enter "until the company resumes negotiations."

In a dozen key cities throughout the country a special telephone sterilization service will soon be offered. It's already available in Boston and New York. Once a week a uniformed young woman appears and efficiently swabs out the mouthpiece of the instrument with an antiseptic. Auto Workers Ask Chrysler Plants Ballot

Prepare Petition to Labor Board but Delay Forwarding It

PARLEYS RESUMED

21,000 Idle in Plymouth Plant and Factories Supplying Bodies

Detroit—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers, engaged in a dispute with the Chrysler Corp. which has kept the Plymouth plant closed since Wednesday, disclosed today it had asked the national labor relations board to conduct an election in all Chrysler plants.

Although the first announcement of a petition had been filed with the NLRB, Richard T. Frankenstein, organizational director of the union, said later the formal petition would be withheld until "we see whether there is time for an election before the summer shutdown."

If the Chrysler plants close soon for re-tooling, in preparation for new models, he explained, the election might be deferred until they reopen.

Frankenstein said he discussed the matter with Frank Bowen, regional director of the labor board, Tuesday.

That was 24 hours before an outbreak of violence between members of the U. A. W. and the Independent Association of Chrysler Employees resulted in the closing of the Plymouth plant.

21,000 Workers Idle

An estimated 21,000 automobile workers in the Plymouth plant and factories supplying Plymouth bodies were idle while charges and counter charges flew. Negotiations were resumed this morning.

A spokesman for Chrysler corporation, Plymouth parent concern, described as a "tissue of inaccuracies" a statement by Homer Martin, international president of the U. A. W. A. Martin ascribed the shutdown to a "lockout" in violation of an agreement that ended a strike affecting all Chrysler divisions last March and charged that the company had "coddled" a rival union affiliation.

The company charged the U. A. W. with violation of the same March compact. The accusations were that union members had "intimidated"—specifically, beaten—Plymouth employees, staged a strike in protest against dismissal of four men the company believed responsible without resorting to the machinery designated to handle such grievances, and participated generally in disturbances that led to a riot call after ten men were injured.

U.S. Signs Trade Pact With Russia

Soviet Union to Buy at Least $40,000,000 in Products in Next Year

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt proclaimed today a new commercial agreement with Soviet Russia by which that country agrees to purchase at least $40,000,000 in American products during the next year.

This is an increase of $10,000,000 over the amount of goods the Soviet government obligated itself to buy in this country by a somewhat similar agreement which expired on July 12.

In return, the United States granted unconditional most-favored-nation commercial treatment to Russia for the first time.

The means it will give that tariff concessions but of all other commercial privileges and advantages it accords to other countries.

The state department said the new compact became effective on July 4.

The special accord with Soviet Russia is not a reciprocal agreement in the technical sense but has broadly the same application.

The new agreement, like the one it replaces will be renewable after 12 months.

Youth Held as Suspect In Wauwatosa Killing

Milwaukee—(AP)—Wauwatosa police held an 18-year-old youth today as a suspect in the murder of John Helwig, 37, filling station operator.

Helwig was slain July 7 by a gunman who took $40 from his cash register.

The youth owned a .32 caliber revolver. Police Captain Louis Wrasse of the Wauwatosa department said, Helwig was slain by a bullet from a .32 caliber gun. The youth's pistol and the bullet were sent to Madison for examination by University of Wisconsin ballistics experts.

Father Accuses Son of Robbing Him of $300

Chicago—(AP)—Michael F. Petric, 51, reported to police today that his son, who he claimed was a chauffeur for the late John Dillinger, entered his home and robbed him of $300.

Police checked Petric's claim that his son was Dillinger's chauffeur and that he left the gang only a few days before members of the band shot and killed a policeman in an East Chicago, Ind., bank robbery.

Investigates Alleged Falsification of Birth Record as Women Fight for Child

Chicago—(AP)—A city attorney began an investigation of a doctor's alleged falsification of a birth record today as Donald Horst's real and foster mothers mapped a legal fight for custody of the 31-month-old abduction victim.

The birth record, issued by Dr. John A. Rose, was uncovered after Donald was snatched Tuesday from the arms of Mrs. Martha Horst by John Regan and Lydia Nelson, the boy's natural parents. The child was surrendered the next day and placed in an orphanage pending settlement of the custody dispute.

Corporation Counsel Barnett Hodges said the board of health had notified him Dr. Rose filed a certified statement that the child was born to Mrs. Horst although he actually was born to Miss Nelson at an address different from the one on the document.

Hodges said his investigation would continue until determination of whether any action could be taken against the physician.

Dr. Rose has been visiting in Batavia, N. Y. He is a business associate of Otto Horst, whom Donald knows as "daddy."

Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said Chicago officials had not found Dr. Rose but that "we are not searching for him in the sense of trying to arrest him."

"When Dr. Rose returns from the vacation I understand he is taking in the east we will question him," Crowley said.

Horst, announcing he had retained John E. Johnson, an assistant state attorney general, for the custody battle, said "I'll spend every nickel I have to get the boy back."

Regan and Miss Nelson, his common law wife, likewise sought legal aid.

"We've found him (the boy), and we'll keep him," she said.

Housing Bill Is Passed in Modified Form

Senate Limits Proposed Construction to $4,000 Per Family Unit

HOUSE GETS MEASURE

Also Votes to Put Administration Under Interior Department

Washington—(AP)—The senate passed a modified Wagner housing bill today and sent it to the house. The vote was 64 to 16.

The bill would authorize a bond issue of $700,000,000 during the next three years and an initial appropriation of $26,000,000 to make loans and grants to public housing authorities for construction of low-rent dwellings and slum clearance.

The measure was one of the major points in President Roosevelt's legislative program.

Most of the discussion centered on restrictive and clarifying amendments, many of which were adopted. They included an amendment placing the proposed housing authority under the supervision of Secretary Ickes' interior department.

Limit on Funds

One of the principal changes was a restriction proposed by Senator Dwyer (D-Va.) that no new housing project could be built with federal aid at a cost of more than $4,000 a family unit or $1,000 per room exclusive of land cost and expense of slum demolition.

The senate eliminated from the bill a section which would have authorized the government to build and operate demonstration projects at the rate of $25,000,000 a year.

It added a requirement that each housing project be accompanied by proportionate slum clearance. It specified that not more than 20 per cent of all funds should be spent in any one state.

Membership of the proposed administrative board was reduced from five to three and made bipartisan in character.

A provision requiring President Roosevelt's approval of loans and grants for housing construction or slum clearance was added by the request of Senator Barkley (D-Ky.).

Interest Above Cost

The interest rate on government loans for housing was increased from one-half per cent over the going federal rate (or what the money cost the government).

A section authorizing loans to limited-profit organizations and consumers housing societies was eliminated.

Construction of playgrounds in connection with each project was made mandatory.

The senate also added an amendment by Senator King (D-Utah) to require senate confirmation of all officers of the housing organization making $4,000 a year or more.

Supports Amendment

Senator Lewis (D-Ill.) supported the amendment to place the program under Ickes, contending creation of a separate agency would be a reflection on the administration by the interior secretary of public works administration housing.

Lewis said he could not conceive of the origin of opposition to putting the new program under Ickes unless it was contractors and suppliers of building materials.

Belfast Foundry Worker Slugged by Hoodlum Gang

Belfast, Northern Ireland—(AP)—A hoodlum gang slugged Thomas Martin, a foundry worker, with revolver bullets today and left him unconscious with a placard nearby which said "police lot No. 2."

Taken to a hospital, Martin said he believed he had been attacked because "sometimes I talk to policemen."

It was the second clubbing of this nature since a visit by King George and Queen Elizabeth July 28 precipitated outbreaks of terrorism attributed by authorities to republicanism extremists.

MILWAUKEE ASSESSMENT

Less Than Quorum at Cooperative Meeting

Madison—(AP)—A scheduled meeting of the Industrial Cooperative union, called to discuss disposition of its $100,000 warehouse at Monroe, apparently attracted less than a quorum of the membership yesterday.

Henry Overton of Union Grove, chairman of the meeting, said 150 members were here and that mail ballots were received from 600 others. He said 1,200 constitute a quorum, and that all questions probably would be deferred until a meeting next February.

The cooperative has been unable to hold a meeting for 15 years because of lack of a quorum.

Emerson E. La, attorney for the cooperative which has about 4,000 stockholders in southern Wisconsin, said mail ballots tabulated so far were overwhelmingly against leasing the warehouse to a cooperative cheese pool but divided on the question of selling the warehouse and dissolving the cooperative.

Most of those present were from Green and Lafayette counties.

Shaw's Body to be Examined This Week if Juvenile Court Approves

Madison—(AP)—If the Crawford county juvenile court approves, the body of Orla Shaw, Soldiers Grove farmer, will be taken from its grave in Viroqua cemetery Saturday for a post mortem examination that may shed more light on the murder of Shaw's niece, Mildred Best, 11.

Carl N. Hill, of Madison, attorney for Mildred's 15-year-old brother, Harold, who twice confessed and then denied the slaying in an order sent to Judge Jeremiah O'Neill at Prairie du Chien today, said the formal order must have his signature.

Madison scientists who investigated the case expressed belief Harold is an innocent victim shielding someone with guilty knowledge and that Shaw's death was due to poisoning instead of natural causes resulting in the death certificate. He died two weeks after the girl was slain.

3 Deaths Attributed To Heat in Wisconsin

Milwaukee—(AP)—Three deaths attributed to the heat were reported in Milwaukee yesterday as the temperature mounted to the high nineties.

Joseph Simon, 60, collapsed here yesterday afternoon while waiting for a street car and was pronounced dead on entrance at County General hospital. His son, Leo, said he thought Simon had been overcome by the heat.

Fred Sander, 50, of Kenosha, collapsed while at work as a mechanic for the Northern Motor Parts company. A physician said he died of a heart attack, presumably brought on by the heat.

Herman Buck, 60, was prostrated by the heat in a field near his farm at Waukegan. He died at a Waukegan hospital of heart disease.

Faces Return to State On Federal Charges

Milwaukee—(AP)—L. Hugo Keifer, assistant federal attorney, said today he would seek the return of Frank Faircloth, alias "Dr. Pierce" for trial on fraud charges.

Keller said Faircloth is held in default of bond in Long Beach, Calif., on a state charge, and is wanted by postal inspectors here, in Mississippi, and other states.

Keller declared Faircloth would be accused of milking a Ripon, Wis., farmer of $8,400 for fraudulent eye treatments if he is brought to Milwaukee.

Surgeon Who Tried to Save McKinley Is Dead

San Diego, Calif.—(AP)—Dr. Edward C. Mann, 62, who received a congressional reward for his efforts to save President McKinley from an assassin's wound, died here last night.

He was awarded a gold watch by congress for medical assistance rendered President McKinley when the latter was shot fatally by Leon Colcock of Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 5, 1901. He assisted his father, Dr. Matthew D. Mann, founder of the Buffalo General hospital, in a future emergency operation.

Roosevelt Is Silent on Proposed Extra Session To Act on Farm Bills

40 Senators Sign Petition for Special Term in October

LEADERS OPPOSED

Bankhead and Rayburn See No Need for Action This Year

Washington—(AP)—Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas formally advised the house today that its leadership hoped to conclude the present session between Aug. 21 and 25.

Rayburn took the floor after asking Minority Leader Martin (R-Mass.) had said that congress could go home tomorrow night "if we are going to have to come back here for a special session on Oct. 15." Cheers and applause greeted Martin's statement.

Asserting he thought the program for the rest of the session was "well understood," Rayburn assured the house if it was completed there would be no need for a special session.

Legislation not listed in that final program, however, was causing leaders more concern than the housing, wage-hour and modified court bills which were listed.

At the heart of the problem was a demand of farm state congressmen for crop loans on present crops. President Roosevelt has been described by representatives as believing crop loans should not be granted without enactment, or assurance of early enactment, of crop control legislation.

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt refused to take a public stand today on a suggested special session of the congress in the fall to take up farm legislation.

Asked at a press conference if he was in sympathy with the move in the senate where 40 senators have signed a petition favoring an extra session in October, the president said that was up to the senate.

Simultaneously at the capitol, Speaker Bankhead, Majority Leader Rayburn (D-Texas) and Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the house agriculture committee, told a caucus of approximately 100 farm state representatives that they saw no necessity for a special session. They assured the meeting that such legislation would be made the "first order of business" when congress convenes in January.

Each said they would assure President Roosevelt and congress, as well as farmers, that crop control legislation would be enacted in time to apply to next year's crops, except winter wheat.

Seek Right-of-Way

The caucus voted to call upon the house and senate leaders to directly assure the president that farm legislation would be given the right-of-way in January and ask the chief executive in turn to assure congress that he would grant crop loans and subsidies to "prevent a major collapse" in farm prices.

At his press conference, President Roosevelt told one inquirer he had not as yet received sufficient assurances about enactment of crop control legislation to warrant him to authorize loans on this year's cotton crop.

At his last Tuesday's press conference the president had said crop production control, invalidated by the supreme court's AAA decision last year, would have to return before federal price pecking was resumed.

In response to another special session question, Mr. Roosevelt smiled and said it was an easy one to answer that he was not considering calling the senate in special session the day after congress adjourns to consider a supreme court nomination.

Senators La Follette (R-Wis.), Shriver (D-Minn.) and Lundeen (R-Minn.) joined 37 of the 73 senate Democrats in urging a special session in October.

Simultaneously it was learned that Secretary Wallace will lead a squad of farm-ranching farm administrators off to the corn belt in the next two weeks to discuss next year's crop conservation program.

Some of these meetings will be mass ones at which Wallace and his assistants will speak. They also may take up general farm legislation.

Young Bookkeeper Kills Mother, Two Sisters and Self

Pittsburgh—(AP)—A young unemployed bookkeeper fatally shot his widowed mother and two sisters and killed himself today with bullets from a new rifle.

Police Inspector Gus Ellen and Lieutenant Edward Kirby said 20-year-old Bernard Gregor murdered the three in the bedrooms of their west end home.

Three notes written by Bernard indicated he was driven to the act by worry over the family.

Another brother, Frank, 27, found the bodies when he came home from work this morning.

The mother, Mrs. Anna Gregor, 47, lay on the floor of her room. In bed in another room were sprawled the bodies of the sisters, Mary Ann, 15, and Betty, 25. Their heads had been pierced by bullets.

One of the notes, found by Homicide Detectives Fred Good and Edward Scanlon, stated:

No Other Way

"Oh, if there were some way other than this of our misery.... Bernard lay near the bed, a rifle beside him.

His note, dated Aug. 4, continued:

"At one time or other I've heard all these say something exactly like they wished they were dead."

"So maybe I am really right.... There is absolutely nothing ahead....

"I am the only one who knows what I intend to do. I told mother to have some kind of a will made out in case something would happen to her at any time."

Herman Schutte, a neighbor, said "we heard the shots about 5 a. m. and got up and looked around. When we couldn't find anything we went back to bed. Frank found the bodies when he came in this morning."

The rifle found in the bedroom in the second floor apartment was a single shooter, police said, and would have to be reloaded for each shot.

Bullets had pierced the heads of the two girls. The mother's body lay crumpled at the foot of a mantel.

Mrs. Zioncheck in Hunt for Prowler

Hollywood—(AP)—Ruby E. Zioncheck, widow of the late congressman from Washington, got her gun and took the situation into her own hands today after police sought in vain for a prowler she reported.

Mrs. Zioncheck called police and reported the presence of a prowler in the yard, but officers searched the grounds without result.

Two hours later the police received a call that there had been a shooting at the home of Miss Page Ayres, Mrs. Zioncheck's aunt, with whom she is staying.

The officers rushed back and dashed into the house. Gun in hand, Mrs. Zioncheck stood looking at a neat hole she made in a window blind when she shot at what she said was the prowler.

Another careful search by the police failed to produce him.

Starts Campaign For Collection of Forfeited Bonds

Loomis Names Milwaukee Attorney to Make Statewide Survey

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis began a campaign today to collect forfeited tavern bonds by the appointment of Carl J. Ludwig, Milwaukee attorney, to make an immediate statewide survey.

Loomis estimated that bonds totaling approximately $1,000,000 are known to be subject to forfeiture because of law violations committed by tavernkeepers. He said the survey probably will result in uncovering other violations which may run the total up to $3,000,000.

All forfeited bond money will go to the state land commission for distribution to the schools.

The survey will be preliminary to the filing of suits to force the bonding companies to pay.

The 1937 legislature passed the Balzer bill which proposed to allow the courts to determine whether bonds already subject to forfeiture should be collected in whole, in part or at all. The bill was vetoed by Governor LaFollette, opening the way for formal action by the attorney general's office.

Attorney Ludwig, who recently assisted the Milwaukee police department in opposing pinball games, will devote full time to the tavern bond situation, Loomis said. He is a member of the law firm of Ludwig and Ludwig, a son of Court Commissioner Emil J. Ludwig, Milwaukee, and a grandson of the late Circuit Judge Emil L. Ludwig.

Temporary Writ Keeps Boy Actor From Shifting Jobs

Los Angeles, Calif.—(AP)—If Freddie Bartholomew won't act for $1,100 a week at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, he won't work for a rival studio either, according to a temporary injunction held today by M-G-M.

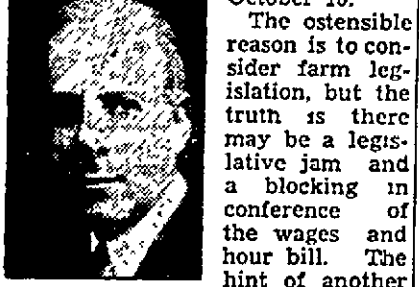

Hearing whether the injunction shall be made permanent was set for next Thursday.

M-G-M said it was paying the 13-year-old actor $350 salary and a $750 bonus a week but that his aunt and guardian, Mylicent Bartholomew, has expressed intention of breaching his contract and seeking more money elsewhere.

Lawrence Expects Extra Session of Congress in Fall

Would Favor Annual Adjournment From June To October

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington.—When congress adjourns in another fortnight, it may be that the vacation will last only until President Roosevelt calls both houses back here for an extra session along about October 15.

The ostensible reason is to consider farm legislation, but the truth is there may be legislative jam and a blocking in conference of the wages and hour bill. The hint of another session in mid-autumn is calculated to hasten action now or later to minimize the importance of dilatory tactics which often develop as a congress prepares for adjournment.

Actually, there is little reason why a congress should not recess about June 15 each year and come back on October 15. This would make the hot weather less of a factor in legislative tempers and moods. But such a plan might have to be slightly modified in an election year. Thus, in 1938, with the primaries beginning in the spring months, members will start their restlessness and will want to see congress adjourned by June 15 at the latest and then will wish to spend the balance of the time in active campaigning.

Immediately after a November election, however, a special session of congress could be called and many of the new members would naturally be in the national capital at that time, anyhow.

At the moment, the calling of an extra session for next fall has an unusual significance. The other day, President Roosevelt told the press that they would know about the next appointment to the supreme court when the nomination went to the senate. From this it was promptly inferred that Mr. Roosevelt would send in a nomination at the present session. If, on the other hand, he has in mind a special session of congress for October, there would be time enough for him to send the nomination to the senate and no recess appointment would be necessary, inasmuch as the supreme court does not convene for its regular term till October.

The proposed special session, on the other hand, may have much more of a bearing on campaign plans for 1938 than on any other issue. Mr. Roosevelt wants a crop control plan in time for the 1938 elections. There is much opposition to such a course, but, in typical log-rolling fashion, the president is using the kind of leverage the members of congress have in the past been applying. He says, in effect, there can be no commodity loans on cotton unless a crop control bill is passed.

Trades With Congress
Thus does the president of the United States trade with or influence a recalcitrant congress. Thus also does a subservient congress surrender power to the executive. In the days of constitutional government, when congress was still the legislative body, the members of both houses would never be going hat in hand to the White house to ask protection for their constituents or the exercise of governmental powers in behalf of farmers. They used to legislate for the farmers in the senate and the house and tell the executive what they wanted passed or eliminated.

The bestowal of discretionary powers by congress on the executive has, in effect, altered the American system of government. The very members of congress who surrendered the legislative prerogative by giving to the executive the discretionary power to make the expenditures are now the victims of executive log-rolling. At present, for example, the members have been advised that, if they will promise to get crop control legislation ready by mid-autumn or even by Jan. 1, they can have their commodity loans. It matters little that the supreme court invalidated previous crop control laws, such as the A.A.A. Mr. Roosevelt is intent on forcing congress to pass new laws with the same principle, though with different verbiage. If the court refuses to validate the law, then the president may use the big stick or club he has held over the court for the last year—threat to add new justices and pack the court with his own majority.

The importance of crop control legislation to Mr. Roosevelt from a political viewpoint cannot be overestimated. Such a scheme as the A.A.A. provides an efficient, nationwide political organization in the rural districts, much better than anything the Democratic National committee could provide and without the necessity of using private campaign funds. The administration is getting ready to back its "rubber-stamp" congressmen and senators in 1938 and wants the crop control legislation pushed through in the latter part of 1937 so as surely to be able to put into operation another political organization to function as effectively as did the old A.A.A. with its county committees.

Mr. Roosevelt is a far-sighted politician and he is much smarter and shrewder than the rubber-stamp congressmen, who already have given him power to spend $1,500,000,000 for relief in city areas. Now there is to be made available about $500,000,000 for activity in the rural districts. That's the way a rubber-stamp congress is maintained in office, and there seems to be little sign as yet of an aroused electorate of independent citizens to meet the issue of the use of public funds to perpetuate a political administration in power.

Trailer Tourists See Indians Stage Show at Keshena

Legend of North Star Presented in Pageant At Camp

BY CARL W. MASON
Keshena, Wis.—The tragic legend of the North Star was presented in a colorful pageant by more than 100 Mesquimie Indians at Menominee Bowl at the convention of the Tin Can Tourists of the World here Wednesday evening before an audience of 1,300 to 2,000 persons. Written and directed by Hans J. Schmidt of the Wisconsin WPA recreational division, assisted by Mrs. Nellie Keshena, reservation community drama leader, and by several men of the tribes, the interesting story of Ojibwa or the North Star was enacted in a natural woods setting with residents of the tribe clustered about in a scene that could scarcely be duplicated on any artificial stage.

Following a concert by the Mesquimie Indian band and an introductory talk by Chief White Eagle, Indian writer and lecturer, the pageant opened with the scene of an Indian village of the Mesquimies of long ago, the bark wigwams, the campfires, the encircling forest and darkness, the women tanning buckskin, the arrow maker at work, the dugout canoe drawn up at one side.

The pageant was divided into two parts, in the interlude the War Dance and Squaw Dance being given, the women participating in the latter, all being in authentic old-time Indian costumes of buckskin, beads, eagle feathers and various other ornaments. Correct costuming of the tribe as well as setting and story were faithfully followed throughout.

Dances and incidental tableaux during the program were directed and performed by Winnebago Indians under the direction of Chief Fred White Eagle. The pageant is scheduled to be repeated Friday evening with changes in the dance programs.

Trailers continue to register, 15 more coming in Wednesday and seven Thursday morning. The canvas had started on a nation-wide career at the summer T. C. convention at Sandusky, O., last year shifted hands to an Indiana custodian at this gathering. Having been in the care of Frank T. Kunkle of Milwaukee, a holder for Wisconsin the first year. The hat is inscribed with the names of holders, prominent Tin Canners and states visited and is expected to circulate at conventions for many years.

Scout Campers on Tower When Lookout Spots Fire

Gardner Dam—An unexpected thrill came to a group of Boy Scout hikers yesterday as they climbed to the top of a fire tower with one of the rangers just in time to see the lookout man spot a fire. Only four hikers were allowed to climb the tower and watch the blaze at one time and there was much hurry around the tower as the boys changed positions.

Scouts Dix Marx, Bill Stieg, Hal Oik, Joseph Bauer, James Bohr, Vilas Laus, Wesley Thos. Lawrence, Krause, Keith Ace, James Oik, Ralph Lendved, Dick Wyman, Neil Etheridge and Bentley Greb were the boys who reported their experience back at the camp during dinner time. Carlisle Runge and Bill Heckrodt were leaders of the hike.

Early Morning Fish Hike
Bill Spalding's job of managing fish hikes is not running short of material for the Drumm brothers, Arthur and Lester, Ronald Fultrow and Orville Marquardt took him out of bed at 5 o'clock in the morning for fishing trips. There were only a few fish caught, but the boys had a lot of fun wading as the river water was quite cool from the last two days of rain.

Start Raft Hikes
Raft hike experts got their activity underway with a race from upstream to the dam. Harold Mack and Lester Drumm won the event by a narrow margin, with Jim Breed, Burton Mayne, Stonewall Jackson, Leroy Korb, Bill Gear, Paul Friedman, George Zachow, Tom Rogers, Phil Bowers, Dean Arndt, Bill Brill, Bill Bertram, Junior Pfeiler, Will Weisman, Norman Draeger, Bob Lacy, Leo Polisek, Will Greb, Ray Grant, Harold Hauser, Glen Krause, George Zeech, Curtis Lemke, and Clarence Halla. Bob Schroeder was in charge of the group.

Two groups of Troop 21 of Clintonville won the minor volleyball championship of Camp No. 2 with Albert Zins captaining the winning squad and Curtis Lemke, the losers.

Capture the flag was the game played in the twilight hours and after much commotion the contest was called a draw although Bentley Greb secured the second camp's flag and was on his way when Ronald Fillnow and other Pontiac patrol members caught him.

Cooking Is Good
Campers and the camp staff agree that to date this summer's camping has been ideal at Gardner dam. The weather has been warm, nights cool and the mosquitoes have not been especially troublesome. Cooking has been good and fellowship, adventure and camping spirit has waxed merrily.

Many campers have inquired about attending the last two weeks of the camp session, especially the week of the Bear Paw trip. There are openings in both weeks and scouts who would like to attend have been asked to contact the Appleton headquarters or to write directly to the camp.

Realty Transfers
The following real estate transfer was filed today with A. L. Collier, Outagamie county register of deeds:

Wencel Weselsky to Jacob Schmitt, three lots in the city of Seymour.

Asks Agriculture Committee to Act On Dairy Measure

Sauthoff Wants Bill Transferred From Ways And Means Group

BY DOUGLAS MACKENZIE
Washington—(P)—Representative Harry Sauthoff, Madison, Wis., endeavored this week to get his dairy products bill transferred from the house ways and means committee to the agriculture committee.

He wrote Chairman Robert L. Doughton (D-N. C.) of the ways and means committee asking that the bill, which would apply to dairy imports, be sent to the agriculture committee. The same sanitary restrictions concerning bovine tuberculosis dairy products, be sent to the agriculture group.

Sauthoff said he has received from more than a score of states "unqualified approval" of the plan. A few states urged that the proposed measure go even further, he said, Oregon suggesting that dairy imports of Bang's disease as well as bovine tuberculosis.

Department's View
The agriculture department also was consulted about the bill, but Harry L. Brown, acting secretary of agriculture, informed Sauthoff, "We are prepared at all times to cooperate in any program having a sound scientific merit. We are not interested, however, in sanitary programs intended primarily as a substitute for economic protection through further restriction of grade."

James Hughes, Kenosha, Wis., clerk in the office of Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin, has resigned to enter private employment. His successor has not been named.

Wisconsin and Ohio congressional delegations have received letters from the attorney general of their states, urging them to oppose the McAndrews bill pertaining to water diversion from Lake Michigan. The measure, now in the house rivers and harbors committee, is designed to "improve navigability of the Illinois lake to the gulf waterway" by making it lawful for Illinois to draw 5,000 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan in addition to all water needed for domestic purposes. The water would be diverted into the Chicago river.

Opposed to Bill
Wisconsin opposes the bill, because, it claims, it will lower the level of Lake Michigan. Representative Sauthoff said he had talked with members of the rivers and harbors committee and that many of them were against the measure.

"I doubt," he said, "that the committee will even give the bill a hearing and I am quite confident it never will get to the house."

Attorney General Orland S. Loomis in his letters said passage of the McAndrews bill would practically invalidate the supreme court decision of several years ago when Chicago and the state of Illinois were refused the right to undertake the diversion plan.

"Considerable time, effort and money was spent by the people of Wisconsin and other lake states in the legal battle," said Loomis. "The supreme court decision determined the equities in the controversy and now, through propaganda efforts are being made to undo all that was accomplished by the lake states in protecting their interests."

No Disturbance Is Expected at Rally
Celebration to be Held in Hall Rather Than in Kenosha Park

Kenosha—(P)—Kenosha police said today they expect no disturbance when the German-American Volksbund rally is held in a hall here. The Kenosha council revoked a permit to hold the celebration in a park after hearing charges that the band was a Nazi organization.

Reports that anti-Nazi groups would picket the celebration could not be verified, officials said. A resolution, condemning Nazi propaganda in this country in the form of Nazi organizations and youth camps, was adopted by the Milwaukee Federated Trade Council and sent today to governor LaFollette, the federal department of justice and City Manager H. C. Laughlin of Kenosha.

The Milwaukee Leader, a Socialist newspaper, attacked the Kenosha council for its "denial of the right of free speech." The leader said the Nazis were "despicable" but said there was "danger in denying free speech to any group."

POOL FREE PROTESTS
Oshkosh—(P)—The town of Oshkosh local unit of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool voted a protest last night against the German Volksbund camps in Wisconsin, and forwarded a request to Governor Philip F. LaFollette asking him to bring about the abandonment of such camps. The milk pool resolution declared that "the training of Nazi forces at Grafton and other points in Wisconsin is detrimental to the American form of government."

In another resolution, the milk pool unit endorsed the demands of the striking workers at the Oshkosh Match corporation plant in Oshkosh.

George S. Sweetman, supervisory freight and ticket agent of the Soo Line, has retired after 37 years of railroad service. He began his career in the summer of 1885 as a relief agent at Sherwood. About the first of the next year he was sent to De Pere, working there as a clerk for three years, and then he accepted a position as ticket clerk at Marinette for one year.

He was next offered the cashier-ship at Iron Mountain, Mich., by the Chicago and North Western Railroad company and served as cashier and agent operator with that line for three and a half years. In May, 1893, Mr. Sweetman was offered and accepted the cashiership of the Milwaukee road in Appleton, serving in that capacity until March, 1904, when he went to the Fox River Paper company as bookkeeper until August, 1918.

The Wisconsin and Northern company completed its line into Appleton in the fall of 1918, and Mr. Sweetman was appointed their agent. On August 1, 1921, the Wisconsin and Northern Railroad was purchased by the Soo Line, with whom Mr. Sweetman served for 19 years until his retirement.

Mr. Sweetman was married Oct. 14, 1891, to Miss Mary M. Altmyer of De Pere.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweetman are planning a western trip through the Canadian Rockies to California soon.

He is succeeded by Mr. G. J. Baker, of Moose Lake, Minn.

Showers Probable In City Tonight

Weather Man Predicts Little Relief From Heat In Appleton Area

Little change in temperature with probable showers and thunderstorms tonight and Saturday is the weatherman's prediction for Appleton and vicinity. Reminiscent of last summer's intense heat waves, the sun beat down on Appleton and vicinity today with only slight breezes stirring the atmosphere.

Duplicating yesterday's temperature, the mercury climbed to 95 degrees on the roof of the Post-Crescent building at noon today. High and low temperatures recorded during the 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company were 94 and 68 degrees with the low mark reported at 4:30 this morning.

The Associated Press reported the high and low temperatures for the nation yesterday: Phoenix, 106; Yellowstone, San Francisco, 82.

TRYING TO KEEP BANKING SAFE

Wisconsin's Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, says we have too many banks in this country and that it is desirable in the interest of "a sound banking system which can withstand future depressions" that nearly 3000 of these banks be closed and permanently retired from business.

Mr. Crowley refers to the banks that should be closed as "unprofitable banks." He does not mean that such banks are necessarily losing money in any given year but that they are not making a sufficient profit so that they may amass reserves against rainy days, some of which are likely to come within a few years.

Mr. Crowley's definitions and declarations of principle are not only sound but will be admitted on every hand, by every shade of political thought or economic opinion. And yet Mr. Crowley will have the toughest time in the world holding the country to his prescription.

Banks feed upon deposits. That is their stock in trade, their inventory, their lymph and life blood. It is too sensible for words that if these deposits are divided too many ways profits go out the window paying for heavy overhead and the maintenance of expensive plants and structures.

It is an axiom that strongly entrenched institutions, whether in the banking, public utility, industrial, commercial or other field, mean stability of life, and therefore of jobs, wages, dividends and a normal life generally.

But just as soon as there is created anywhere any sort of an institution that is strong men begin to cast first envious, second critical, and third competitive eyes at it. Assaults upon it may also be good political ammunition.

Mr. Crowley's plan of eliminating 300 to 400 banks in the country annually for seven years will not meet any debate upon its soundness but will meet plenty of opposition in its application.

Americans have a habit in relation to their banks that developed in the last 40 years, and with increasing speed in the decade before the depression, that cannot be cast aside without an effort.

Banks were started for the fun of it. Many were created to fill empty space by landlords who wanted long time tenants. Others were constructed by successful business men who thought it would be helpful to their children's future to have a father known as a banker. Thousands of banks were literally created so their speculating sponsors might obtain the easy use of funds which had been denied them by sound banks and in support of which they had insufficient property to pledge.

The disaster that started growing with the spread of these banks and their control by men who did not appreciate their public responsibility was clearly foreseen by some, but the attempt to obstruct it, which would have saved the depression from its very worst feature was not supported by the people.

Every time the banking authorities attempted to forestall the saddening of new banks upon communities already carrying too many, or the building of such an institution in a community that could not afford any, they were shouted down in high anger by the localities affected with that final and decisive enunciation that the authorities were just trying to protect the business of the "big fellows."

So, in view of the history with which we are all familiar, and the tendency of the people to walk the same road again regardless of the ruins open to their inspection, it may be fairly said that Mr. Crowley is not going to have any easy task even in maintaining a policy so obviously right.

LONG TIME SUGGESTION

Perhaps, 6,177 years from now, archaeologists of that far-off time will pry open the stainless steel door of a vault that is to be constructed beneath the main building of Oglethorpe University in Atlanta.

If they do, they will be following instructions in a written language that may appear as strange to them as do the cuneiform inscriptions of the Assyrians to us.

Inside the vault, in nitrogen-filled containers, the searchers will find a record of our civilization, motion pictures of our manner of life, models of our machines and boats, microfilm of our books and plays, samples of our food and drink, our chewing gum and cigarettes.

The inscription on the vault door will fix the year 1813 for its opening because 6,177 years cover the span of recorded history.

The idea is good as impossible ideas go. But Oglethorpe's president is having difficulty deciding just what is to be included in the collection of Early Americana. After all, space will be limited. And there are too many eager advisers.

What should be included? The question is suggested as one that is guaranteed to enliven any round-the-hearth conversation.

And one's answer will reflect pretty well the meaning that civilization, as we know it, holds for him.

WISCONSIN AND THE BEASTS

When an offense that makes men see red with rage and feel the necessity of dancing around a dangling form hanging from a tree branch, like the recent destruction of the 11-year-old Milwaukee girl, is committed, it seems almost necessary for the people of Wisconsin to view their own recent history, inspect the state's fortifications erected against criminal depredations even as an army might appropriately overlook its material and supplies when an attack is threatened. And it will be well to remember, too, that in the criminal world attacks are always in the offing.

Crimes of this bestial nature are rare in Wisconsin. Mobsters have occasionally hid out in our state and wolf-eyed derelicts sometimes trailed the steps of children, but it has never been either a training ground or headquarters for gangsters nor looked upon by the bestial as a sympathetic place of abode.

It is fair to ask the difference between Wisconsin, on the one hand, and states like Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana and Michigan to mention our nearest neighbors only, on the other.

Why are our skirts so much cleaner, our record so much better, our people so much safer? The answer will be found along a number of avenues because the administration of justice is not located solely in one place.

Insofar as the pardoning and paroling power is concerned, that is the executive office, Wisconsin has had but one governor who might fairly be accused of using this power for political purposes. Every other chief executive, irrespective of political leanings, has been high-minded enough to push aside political advantage gained through this means.

This is one of the most important facts in our present comparative security today. With rare exceptions the orders of our pardoning and parole boards, which must be approved by the governor, have been sound. No one, it should be said, is concerned that a board or a governor makes a mistake. The harm comes when improper influence affects decisions.

Another equally important factor in making Wisconsin unpopular with criminal elements is the excellent records maintained by our juries in convictions. It probably would be inaccurate to say that this resulted because our people are any better than those of surrounding states but we do have a system of jury selection which secures both the impartial and the intelligent at one stroke.

And nowhere more than in the enforcement of criminal laws is eternal vigilance necessary than in the preservation of the important conditions mentioned.

AIR MAIL FOR APPLETON

There is a current wave of agitation for a renewal of air mail service between Green Bay, Appleton, and other valley cities and Chicago.

It seems logical that a group of cities like the ones that line the Fox river, well populated, and what is more important, prosperous, could support such a service.

Postal authorities have announced that mail counts will be taken at various stations in this vicinity to determine the practicality of such a move. It must be realized with such counts, however, that the amount of mail sent via air mail here would be much increased over the present were service to be started to Chicago. For the advantage of sending letters and packages via air mail from Appleton now is very small unless they are going great distances.

Appleton wants and needs air mail. Green Bay, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and all the other valley cities, possibly even Marinette and Menominee, also want and need it.

It is to be hoped that the United States post office department can see its way clear to start air mail service for this region again in the very near future.

A new invisible ray, which increases by 20 times the distance over which the human eye can see, and is equally efficient in fog, has been tested in England.

Treating cabbage seed with hot water has been found to be an effective method of treating two cabbage diseases known as black rot and black ring.

Living tortoises, with colored precious stones set in their shells, are exciting Alaskan dogs as pets among the "smart set."

It is estimated that sleeping-car porters, 7000 of whom are employed in the United States, receive about $1,000,000 in tips during the year.

A hen's egg contains 68 per cent water, 10 per cent fat, 13 per cent protein and 11 per cent minerals.

Buildings erected near other tall buildings decrease the wind strain on the tall ones, government studies show.

FROM North Woodstock, New Hampshire, comes a "contribution" from Jonah-the-crowner, our mutual friend. Looks like he's taking a postman's holiday.

VIVE, LA JONAH!

Stoo.

Come through Vermont this afternoon and, believe it or not, saw two WPA project signs. Wait until Farley hears about this. A state that voted against Mr. Big doesn't deserve a shovel to lean on!

What's worse, New Hampshire went Democratic last fall, and yet you can't get a drink within twenty miles of this place. Now I'm off the Democrats for sure.

If I can drive in a straight line after making all the turns necessary for driving in the mountains, I may get home.

Has anyone sued you yet?

—Jonah-the-crowner

Jonah probably needs a drink to make those hairpin turns. Nobody has sued me yet nor have I received a "hot-headed letter." In view of these two disconcerting facts, one would think I'm not conducting this column in true fashion during his absence.

Pickaway writes a letter that is against my better (?) judgment to print. I will run it, however, if he will sign his own name to the manuscript. Incidentally, Pickaway, why do you want to add to Zeke's burden with barbed remarks? Regarding the stab at the police department, your information would have to be more specific. Whatthahell has the supreme court got to do with rain in your home town?

Have you ever had a cold in the summer-time? ? ? It's worse than a sunburn in the winter. Bleary-eyed and red-nosed, I turned up at the office today and was accused of not being in good company last night. A couple sniffs, however, and my story was accepted.

The city fathers at Clintonville have adopted an ordinance requiring registration and regulation of all bicycles. . . it's getting so a son doesn't know his own father. . . maybe these Chinese aren't so dumb clever. . . the man who drove 25 years without accident or arrest must have done it in the back seat. . .

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

I WOULD NOT HAVE HIM DIFFERENT

I would not have him different;
I'll take him as he is.
He has so honest an intent,
Such loving sympathies.

He has more faults than any one.
But I can understand him.
The kind of faults he has, and run
To him with outstretched hand.

And when I measure happiness,
I add this to my store:
I love him for his virtues, yes,
But for his faults, far more!

25 YEARS AGO

Aug. 9, 1912

The initial move for a viaduct across the Fox river was started that morning at a conference attended by John E. Beggs, A. K. Ellis, C. B. Dickinson, John Conway and the city commissioners. A plan for a steel structure to cost $166,000 was submitted, reaching from the foot of Prospect avenue or Appleton street to the golf grounds.

Interest in Judge John C. Karel's campaign for governor continued to grow in Appleton. It was announced that the annual Labor day picnic of the union men of Appleton, Neenah and Menasha would be held at the Appleton Driving park Sept. 2.

General Charles King was quoted as saying that "Captain H. E. Pomeroy should be colonel of his regiment."

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THE COLITIS VAGARY

Most of the neurosthenics of yesterday, I learn from the letters, are now possessed with colitis. It is as difficult to answer their questions as it has always been to answer the academic questions of Class B neurotics. I am hampered by the inescapable fact that there is such a condition as colitis, inflammation of the large bowel, so it is inexpedient to attempt to disabuse their minds of the absurd notion. Now you can make some victims of the nervous exhaustion obsession listen to reason when you remind them that, so far as we know, there is no such thing as nerve energy and hence there can be no such thing as exhaustion or loss of nerve energy. Often it may be necessary to challenge the poor geek to cite a medical or scientific authority for his weak nerves vagary. If he scowls and you flatter him, he will be around and fails to get a reputable witness to sustain the silly idea—that is, a live one—there is a fair chance that you may be able to show him the way to health.

The individual with a claim of colitis is a tougher assignment. Especially if some colon laundry or some food specialist has been tampering with him. He submits abstruse problems pertaining to the flora and fauna of the alimentary canal and the acid ash and alkaline ash foods and leaves you flabbergasted at the extraordinary amount of inside misinformation he has collected in a few years of research.

Unless you are hardboiled he puts catch questions and cross-examines you and shows by his manner that he was afraid of that—half-expected he knew more about the subject than any ordinary doctor does.

In most cases of colitis, said Dr. S. W. Patterson, in the London Practitioner, February, 1936, the cause appears to be local irritation arising within the bowel and spreading outwardly. The bowel is irritated by the abuse of laxatives and aperients (the English name for those of that word that they insist on dragging it in even though it means the same as laxatives) and by colonic irritations. Foods are hurried through the intestine incompletely digested. The contents of the large bowel then remain fluid (should be solid) and at body temperature are a suitable culture for the growth of bacteria.

In the New York Medical Record, February 5, 1936, Dr. J. P. Montague says there is no doubt of the improvement in subacute and chronic cases of ulcerative colitis following a high vitamin diet; the danger of vitamin starvation in chronic cases is considerable, as patients tend to adopt a limited diet, mostly carbohydrates—and to that one may add that the diet is usually refined carbohydrates which are generally poor in vitamins. Chemical analysis of the blood usually shows a lowered calcium and phosphorus reserve (perhaps incident to lack of vitamin D); and the persistent diarrhea brings about a depletion of vitamins.

Experience of many physicians is showing the value of supplementary feeding with vitamins, especially B, C, D and G, in all cases of colitis, whether there is constipation or diarrhea.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Allergy
What is your opinion of this test and treatment for allergy from cold: Immerse one hand in cold water for two minutes. If swollen, continue such immersion each day, and gradually the swelling will diminish. (W. J. McK.)

Answer—That that hypersensitive to cold "allergy" is stretching the idea beyond reason. I see no objection to the experiment, if it works as you describe, as I believe it would in any case.

Immunology
I am quite susceptible to "colds," bronchitis and similar diseases of the respiratory tract. Have received "cold" vaccine treatment for several years which helped some. What further treatment can you suggest? (D. O.)

Answer—Supplement daily diet with optimal ration of vitamin D, most conveniently and economically taken in the form of irradiated yeast.

Fear of Dentist
Can anything be done for a person who has a great fear of going to the dentist? (R. F.)

Answer—Yes, his physician can administer a dose of amylal, sodium amylal, or similar drug, to put the patient into a neutral or indifferent state and protect him from the risk of shock. Such drugs can be administered only by the physician or the dentist.

Your Birthday

"LEO"

If August 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 a. m. from 3:15 to 5:15 p. m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 a. m. from 6:15 to 8:15 p. m. and from 10:15 p. m. until midnight.

One of the most annoying conditions of this day may be the inability of the average person to attend strictly to his own business. You may have to use forbearance in dealing with some of the know-it-alls you are apt to contact. You will gain more by being diplomatic than brusque. This is a good day to remember you can always catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar.

In seeking pleasure on this date be discriminating in your selection of the diversion you are going to use as a medium to secure it. Random selections or the use of haphazard judgment is likely to result in disappointment.

The prevailing inclination will be to overdo things, particularly activities involving a lot of physical exertion. Be careful in this respect. Married and engaged couples and those whose destinies are being shaped by Cupid will find on this date that gentleness and affection will reap a good reward, whereas ill-temper and indifference will be productive of a reaction that will be regrettable.

If a woman and August 7 is your birthday, a magnetic personality might give you a far-reaching influence over many people. Being very sympathetic you perhaps will be the recipient of many confidences. You probably realize the importance of keeping a secret. There is a possibility of your discovering some strictly legitimate way through which a fortune can be made. Should you have rough going in starting something new, do not become discouraged, for it would seem you are preordained to be a great success in anything you seriously undertake. Some of the activities that are liable to enable you to acquire a worthwhile bank account are: professional dancing, acting, singing, playing a musical instrument, interior decorating, or business management. You ought to be very fortunate in your selection of a husband.

The child born on August 7 apparently is surrounded by the best of luck. In its late teens a big opportunity may come knocking at its door. Wise parents will see that it is grasped, for this might mean the starting of a remarkable career.

If a man and August 7 is your birthday and if you do not go around with a chip on your shoulder, you will win many loyal friends, and possibly through them make big money. As a chemist, naturalist, author, broker, real estate agent, actor, physician, clergyman or sales promoter, you might have a chance of seeing your ambitions gratified.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York—Rural Note: Alfred Lunt, Ted Lewis, Sidney Kingsley, James Melton and Robert Montgomery are all farmers. Squire Kingsley's plantation is in N. J. Montgomery's is upstate N. Y. Ted Lewis has a mess of acres near Circleville, O. The Lunts cling to Wisconsin; Melton's cabbage ranch cost him $35,000 cash.

Obituary: Court actions point the road back for vaudeville, with burlesque having its teeth pulled, and the glamour-houses of 42nd street being stripped of their nudges and made ready for the comeback of hoofers. That excited chatter you hear, like a swarm of parrots in a jungle glade, is just the elated chirping of hundreds of vaudeville actors, stranded these many seasons, dusting off their clogs and limbering up for the old five-day-day!

Check-up and comment: With George Gershwin gone, who are our modern composers whose music has a chance to become classics? . . . Off hand I would name two—Jerome Kern and Vincent Youmans. Ironically, Youmans' greatest success came through failure. He wrote "Great Day," a show that was a complete flop, yet the score contained a dozen numbers which individually, were gems. . . . The best known, perhaps is "With-out a Song." Kerns, too, is out in the blue. Unrecorded by the acid of years, his "Show Boat" score has long since entered the classical lists.

Profit and Loss: Flourishing a brace of infirm $2 bank notes, writer Willard Keefe returned from the race track in a jubilant mood. "I won $4," he cried. "As I did not lose me usual $25 that puts me $29 ahead for the day!"

As he went on to describe his winning "system" the maid informed him his office was on the wire.

"Bill," cried the voice at the other end, "I've been trying to reach you all afternoon. There was a quick re-write on a radio sketch which would have paid you $200. You could have done it in an hour. But we couldn't wait: we gave it to someone else."

Naturally, Keefe is no longer jubilant. Minus his $29 gain he is gloomily realizing that he is the loser by $196. Moral: develop in-

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—On the day Senator Robinson, soldier of the New Deal, was buried in Little Rock, Ark., there died in Oak Bluffs, Mass., one of the most militant foes of the New Deal, Dr. H. Parker Willis.

This professor of banking at Columbia university took one deep sniff of the New Deal early in its existence and thought it bad. From then on he scarcely missed an opportunity of slashing at it with pen and tongue.

But Willis was no simple paragrapher, and the result was that his writings and preachings seldom enough found their way to the common fireside. He was one of the few who gave warning in advance of the 1929 debacle. He was equally vehement in denouncing New Deal theories for overcoming problems of the depression.

Treasury Foe

The "brain trust" was anathema to him. He said:

"It is amazing how simple our industrial and trade problems are to the advocates of 'planned economy.' Hearing them expound their over-simplified doctrines of arbitrary increases in wages and prices and of the benefits supposed to flow therefrom, one would suppose it possible to raise the prices in the one branch of industry without at the same time raising the costs in another."

Willis was in his early 40's when he and Senator Glass drafted the Federal Reserve act. He became secretary of the Reserve board and later director of research, and continued as consulting economist until the time of his death.

Early in the board's existence he detected and denounced the increased sway of the treasury department over Federal Reserve policies. Senator Glass similarly came to be a critic of this tendency and sought to end it with the banking act of 1935, by removing the secretary of the treasury from ex-officio membership on the Reserve board. He accomplished the removal but certainly the treasury's increasing domination of the national credit and monetary systems was not abated.

Panic Harbinger

Willis' reputation as a financial advisor brought him to Washington as a consultant, occasionally, even after the advent of the New Deal. He had a hand in drafting the banking act of 1933. Frequently he was called abroad, and his analytical writings about the American financial scene were in demand in Europe as much as here. He was author of something near a five-foot shelf of books on banking and finance.

If there was a financial writer who had a "panic in his breast" about the Roosevelt administration, it was Willis. To him dictatorship, or something akin to it, lurked in well nigh every move.

tution an idyllic home on the days people call!

Our true story for today: In the early 50's is a maker of keys. He is able to open any lock in the dead of night or the middle of the day he receives frantic requests from people to help them out of difficulties. You know, a child locked in a clothes press, a man unable to open his trunk, etc.

Finally came a call from a beauty salon and there was a great deal of good-natured exasperation in the proprietor's voice as she urged him to hurry. "There's a lady, here and something is the matter with the zipper on her corset," she explained. "And we can't do a thing with it."

Hurrying over, he found the patron in an annoyed state of mind. But she wasn't half so annoyed as he was surprised. The woman with the offending zipper was his ex-wife—whom he hadn't seen in three years!

B. degree from the University of Cincinnati and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He received his rabbinical ordination from Hebrew Union college of Cincinnati.

After the banquet there will be a dance at the American Legion Memorial clubhouse. B'nai B'rith, Sons of the Covenant, is the oldest and largest of Jewish fraternal organizations. It was founded by a group of 12 men in New York in 1843, and at the fourteenth international convention in Washington last May it was announced that the order has 80,000 members in 600 lodges in 30 countries. The order is not a secret society and its ritual is published. From the first, political and religious discussion has been excluded from its debates. It was founded to promote high morality among Jews, on the basis of a spirit of charity and brotherly love rather than dogma or ceremonial customs. In many countries it is the only group where Jews of all shades of belief may foregather. The order is engaged primarily in philanthropic and eleemosynary work, establishing and maintaining numerous homes for orphans, widows and the aged. Its cultural activities are likewise extensive.

Aids Students
At nine American universities B'nai B'rith maintains for Jewish students Hillel foundations, named for a celebrated rabbi of Biblical times. The foundations provide for Jewish students a completely directed center of social and religious activity.

Union Holds Meeting at Alicia Park

MRS. W. R. WETZELER and daughter, Mrs. Theodore Irion, Oshkosh, were guests at the meeting of St. John Women's Union Thursday afternoon at Alicia park. The guests were former Appleton residents, being widow and daughter of the late Rev. W. R. Wetzeler, who was pastor of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church.

Mrs. Harold Gotcher led a short devotional service and reported on fellowship work. Mrs. Adam Limpert gave a report on the work of the welfare circle, and Mrs. Herbert Baer told of the Arabian luncheon given by Mrs. L. C. Sleepor last week for the Interdenominational Women's Missionary board. Mrs. Baer stated that the interdenominational group recommends the observance of a Day of Missions on Oct. 7 instead of the six individual meetings preceding the World Day of Prayer in the spring, and the Women's Union pledged itself to support this project.

Plans were made for a joint meeting with the Missionary society of First Reformed and Evangelical church sometime in September when Mrs. Sleepor may be secured to give a report on the conference which she attended at Lake Geneva this summer. The union accepted an invitation from Mrs. George Krueger to attend an outing at her cottage at White Lake near Weyauwega on Aug. 26.

Plans were also made to have a "mock ice cream social," whereby the members will give donations of money instead of actually holding an ice cream social. Mrs. Herman Bardenhagen was named chairman of this project.

William Holmes and Robert Arthur, who spent several days in Illinois, are back in Appleton where they are living at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house, 424 E. North street.

WEDS THREE TIMES

Merry Fahrney, vivacious heiress to patent medicine fortune, displayed a platinum wedding ring in Chicago and said she was married—for the third time—to Baron Arturo Berlingiere, an Italian who doesn't speak English. Miss Fahrney said she did not speak Italian, but anticipated no trouble.

Association of Blind Holds Picnic at Park

The northeastern branch of the Badger State Advancement Association of the Blind of which E. W. St. Clair is president, held a picnic Thursday afternoon at Pierce park. After lunch was served, the business meeting was conducted. Mrs. E. W. St. Clair, secretary, gave a report of the fiscal year.

Doubled Slam Made Only Because of Poor Defense

By ELY CULBERTSON
(Copyright: 1937; By Ely Culbertson)

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The hand herewith may be of interest to your readers. I, who was South, do not favor psychic bids and my partner was well aware of that aversion. Hence it was not to be wondered at that she considered my first bid an honest one. My excuse is that I was reckless, having won several rubbers."

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JO-TOTTE POINTER
Each player will be careful to draw proper inferences from his opponent's play, considering the rules of the game. If a trump is led, and the other player does not take it, then he has no high trump. The rules say that a trump lead must be won, if possible. If same suit is led and the opponent discards, it means that his hand is void not only of the suit led but also of trumps, for he must follow suit if able, and if unable to follow suit he must trump.

The fall of high cards is significant. If you lead an ace from a holding such as A 10 8 and your opponent drops the king on your ace, he probably has no more cards of the suit and can ruff the next lead. In such cases you must be wary. Perhaps he is false carding, having K Q and hoping you will next lead the eight and let him win with the queen. The best course is for you to shift to another suit until you find out whether or not your opponent's play of the king was "honest."

Old Gardener Says:

By E. I. FARRINGTON

Japanese irises are the latest members of the iris family to bloom, but they are not the least in importance. Indeed, there are few flowers of any kind which make a more gorgeous display. They may be set out now. The mistake should not be made of thinking that the Japanese irises demand a wet location. All too often they are killed by being planted in wet spots where the drainage is poor. The fact is that they abhor wet feet as greatly as any plants, although they do love to dabble their toes in the water, so to speak. If planted near a stream or a pond, the crowns of the plants should be set on a little mound of sand and high enough so that the water will drain away from them. When used in the garden border, no special attention is required except keeping them well supplied with water by means of the hose.

Children Should Have Chance to Learn Cooking

By ANGELO PATRI

During the free-from-school months, two of the most valuable months of the year in a growing child's life, things to do are often scarce. That is things the children want to do and which their parents would be glad to have them do.

Cooking is a fine pastime, and a very useful accomplishment. A good cook is a benefactor of the race and I would rather give a medal to a boy or girl for cooking a fine dish than for running a race or clearing a hurdle. Ministering to hungry people is listed among the deeds that achieve merit with the saints and most sinners will agree that the judgment is worthy.

Indoor cookery is the easiest to start with as outdoor cookery has many handicaps which slow down the interest. A gas stove that obeys the touch of a finger is a source of comfort and a great assurance of success. That success element is highly important for the continuance of the practice so we have to do our best to insure it at the start.

Pancakes are a good dish for the beginner. There are many kinds, all good, some of them the product of highly specialized art, some the result of the simplest mixture stirred and dropped on the pan by the crudest of campers. By all means, begin with pancakes.

Of course all children want to make candy and that is what they should do. Give them what they need and leave the kitchen to them the only stipulation being that they must leave the place in as good condition as they found it. Don't allow any burned pans and caked spoons to be left in the sink for someone else to clean up. The cleaning up is one part of the cookery job. It goes with it always.

Little girls ought to be encouraged to learn to cook. There are junior electric stoves on the market, and kitchen utensils to fit them, that would delight a little girl's heart. If circumstances allow such a luxury what a fine birthday gift they would make. The little girl could invite a couple of friends and they could cook and serve their own refreshments.

Cooking food is an art that brings health and happiness to those fortunate enough to enjoy the service. Poor cooking is one of the chief causes of illness, broken homes, human misery. We have been having a campaign for better cooking these past few years and greater interest has been taken in the preparation of our food. But not enough. It will not be enough until we are a nation of good cooks and appreciative eaters.

We have the finest food in the world. We have a greater variety of vegetables, a much better grade of fruit, the best of meat, but we cook it abominably for the most part. Let the children learn to select, prepare and cook good meals. They will find great fun in doing it, and give themselves the greatest boon imaginable, a trained appreciation of good cooking. With a

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

WOMEN IN PUBLIC

Dear Mrs. Post: Could you drive one effective protest publicly against the chattering habits of women who go together to see moving pictures? Women at plays seldom chatter. Women at concerts behave almost too decorously. But women will enter a movie at its touching or most gripping climax, push blandly into their seats with words like these: "She doesn't take advantage of the opportunities she has." (The hero is struggling heroically in his arms, and my heart throbs for his sake.) "She throws her money away. Why that yellow hair cost her seventeen dollars and a half. I know!" A polite "sh-h" has absolutely no effect on these people. They stare at you cruelly as though you were a cheap, cheeky masquerade and continue. "Her maid told my maid that..." Please won't you write something before I stand up screaming in the center of a theatre and lecture these women on the beauty of silence with the ringing cry "Shut up!"

Answer: I don't think I can make a more effective protest than by

Posture Is Important To Health

By ELSIE PIERCE

JUST how important proper posture is to bodily health, any physician will tell you. To function normally the vital organs must be in normal position. Too many people, men as well as women, are guilty of habitual slump. As a result vital nerve and blood channels may become partially obstructed. Pinched nerves, strained muscles, aches and pains are often the direct result of faulty posture. Improper functioning of the digestive tract and of the chest cavity may be due to faulty posture.

Poor posture is just as detrimental to the pictorial scheme. We are all, all too familiar with the protruding abdomen, exaggerated lordosis curve, flattened chest, rounded shoulders... the composite picture of the habitual slump and not a pretty picture, by any means.

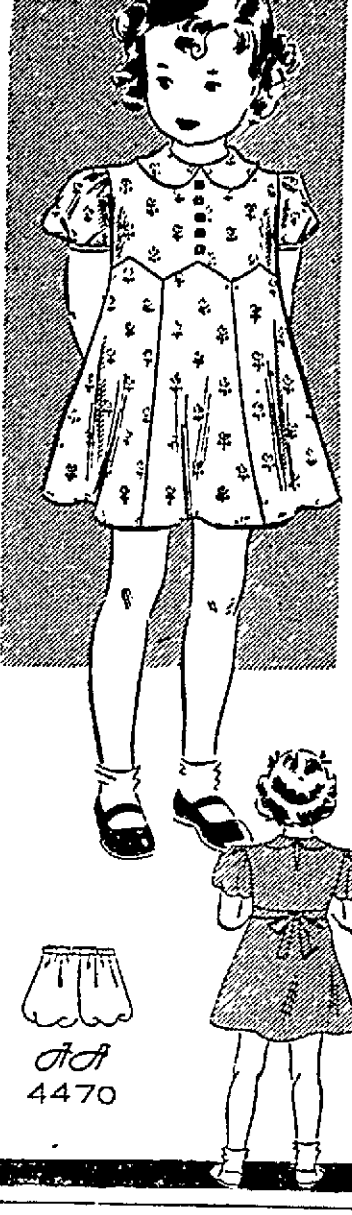

While Exercising
We have just completed a series of exercises on "spot" reduction aimed at flesh accumulations in various parts of the body. We've talked about uneven distribution of weight and the humiliation it adds, the happiness it subtracts. Many women may, seriously, start exercising those spots. Summer is the ideal time to do it. Even in muggy hot weather it can be done. Light weight clothes are conducive to exercise, the normality of beaches makes it possible for one to exercise without attracting a curious crowd, in the privacy of one's own boudoir or back yard at beach or mountain resort one certainly can do loose overalls and bend and twist and stretch. Then, too, there are summer sports which are splendid as normalizing exercises and if you know which sport to choose for you, the exercise will serve a two-fold purpose, give you a full measure of fun and full value received so far as slimming goes.

But while you are exercising bear in mind that unless your posture is correct the exercise will not have its full value. And between sessions on the links, tennis court, or your mat at home make sure your posture is quite perfect. If it isn't, then all the good that the exercising does temporarily is undone, and far more permanently. You may even succeed in reducing the "spot" but you won't look as slim and svelte, as tall and straight as you would if you were standing, sitting, walking in proper posture. And proper posture consists, simply of: abdomen in, chest up, not exaggeratedly but normally, shoulders in normal position, small of the back almost straight (no evident curve there) and buttocks tucked under. Try it—it's really easy.

My complete new booklet "Reduce by Exercise" (Booklet 202) is yours for ten cents. It covers the subject thoroughly. Send for it, giving your name and full address to the Bell Library, c/o this newspaper, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y.

Most of us think of a henpecked man as a weakling, one who lacks the backbone to stand up to a bossy woman and fight it out with her, but my observation has been that the henpecked man is more often a hero than a coward.

Many men buy peace in their homes at the price of submission. They find themselves married to women so narrow-minded they can never see any point of view but their own and so despotic in their dispositions that they must rule or be ruled. To save continual turmoil and conflict and to prevent their children from being brought up in a house of strife, they sacrifice their pride and their manhood and let their wives walk over them rough-shod.

Many other men suffer themselves to be henpecked because they have the vision to see that their wives' persistent nagging, their never-ending espionage, their ceaseless efforts to force them to obey them, as if they were children, springs from love and their desire to protect them. And myriads of other men are henpecked because they realize that they have to give in to a selfish woman who is determined to have her own way, or else divorce her, and they are good enough sports to stand by their bad bargains.

But because a man permits his wife to rule him is not proof that he is incapable of ruling others.

DOROTHY DIX.

men and buy food," Kay replied despondently.

"That's what I meant by the right sort of outfit," Ted answered. "We won't take any pay. We'll use the money to buy the necessary feed for the cattle and horses to carry them over the winter. With what's left, we'll buy food for the outfit, and if rations get slim, we can follow the pioneers there, too. There's as good trapping and hunting in the Bitter Root as there ever was."

"But I couldn't ask the boys to go without their pay!" In spite of her protest, Kay's eyes reflected the thrill that Ted's plans gave her.

"They'll be mighty lucky to have a roof over their heads and food to eat," Ted observed grimly. "And if they have any sense, they know it. You can leave that to me," he went on. "I'll put it up to Seth, and he'll put it up to Ted."

"And to think that this outfit, yesterday I didn't even know you!" Kay marveled. "You're making everything possible!"

"This time yesterday, I didn't know myself," Ted answered quickly, and Kay felt a sudden quickening of her pulses at the look he bent on her. "It's you who have made everything possible," he paused, and then brought out, "Miss Kay."

"The boys all call me 'Kay.' You may as well get used to it," Ted chuckled with her heel. Kay raced ahead without waiting to see the effect of her announcement.

It was enough to feel the color coming into her own cheeks, and to realize that in some magic way a whole world had taken on a new aspect. What had seemed a hopeless disaster was being turned into a most thrilling adventure, and somehow the future was full of exciting promise.

The Boys' Back Up Kay

Before lunch, Ted got Seth to one side, explained the situation about the insurance, and put his proposition up to him. There was no question of Seth's reaction to the scheme.

"Hell's bells! Why didn't I think of that myself?" He grasped Ted's hand. "Surely, that outfit'll stand by. You just watch 'em 'Kay'."

Wasting no time, he strode over to the mess shack, where the men were gathered waiting for the welcome summons to "Come and get it," and explained Ted's idea.

The response was unanimously enthusiastic, and by the time Kay arrived for lunch she found the whole outfit eagerly discussing plans.

"We're all rarin' to go!" Seth called out, as Kay came in sight. "Just you wait till you see this building and loan association getting into action!"

Sudden tears came into Kay's eyes as she faced the eager group.

"I'll try to make it up to you boys someday," she said huskily.

"Gosh, there's nothing to make up," Shorty, the outfit comedian, spat out for the bunch. "Anybody with guts and a roof over his head is in luck this winter. And say, won't we build some chateaux! Oh, la, la! I'll tell the world! Shorty, who had been overseas during the World War, never missed an opportunity to air his French.

Kay laughed. "Never mind the chateaux, Shorty. Just a plain log ranch house is good enough for me."

"By the way, is there any good sized timber near here?" Ted spoke up.

Seth scratched his head. "Most of our timber land is kind of scrubby second growth," he answered. "I hadn't thought of that."

"What's the nearest big timber?" Ted asked.

Seth looked speculatively at Kay. "I reckon that ridge of Old Man Warren's is the best there is anywhere round here."

Kay nodded a thoughtful pucker between her eyes.

"I'd better see him about buying a few acres," she decided. "I'll do that the next time I go in town."

"Say, we'll have the swiftest ranch house on the range," Shorty boasted. "I'll be the architect."

A rear of derision greeted this proposition and with a general hubbub of plans and suggestions, they all piled in for food.

Kay rashly tells her plans to Josh Hastings tomorrow.

Henpecked Husband More Often Hero Than Coward

By DOROTHY DIX

Henpecking appears to have originated at or about the same time as the marriage relationship, and to have been assiduously practiced ever since by the feminine sex. It is of record that the First Wife nagged the First Husband into doing the thing that he didn't want to do and knew that he should not do, so since that sad day the world has been filled with poor, down-trodden, spirit-broken men who refer to their neither garments as "our" pants and jump when spoken to by their better three-quarters.

No figure has been more common in our midst than the henpecked husband who has been variously regarded with amusement or contempt or pity. His case has seemed hopeless, just one of the things that are a by-product of matrimony and about which others could do nothing. So we have sat helplessly by, with folded hands, in the belief that no one could protect a husband from his wife and that an earthly power could stop a bossy woman from bossing.

But the Prussian government thinks differently and has established the status of the henpecked husband as N. G. The supreme administrative court of Prussia has ruled that a man who lets himself be dominated by his wife is not fit to hold office in the Prussian state, and an official, who had been notoriously henpecked by his wife, under this edict has been deprived of his job.

This verdict, based upon the theory that the man who cannot rule his own home is not fit to rule a state, seems logical enough until you reflect that there isn't any reason in marriage anyway and things don't work out according to rule. Because a man follows his wife around like Mary's little lamb at home is no sign that he isn't a raging lion abroad.

I have known generals with their breasts covered with medals they had won for bravery in war, but who were scared to death of the little two-by-four women to whom they were married. I have known men who ruled thousands of employees with a rod of iron, but who didn't dare to ask for a second cup of coffee in their own houses. I have known men whose word was law and for whose opinions great corporations paid thousands of dollars who said "yes ma'am" to their wives and never dreamed of such an audacity of correcting them even when they were wrong. And so have you known all of these types of men who were giants and leaders among men, but who let their wives keep them on the leash. Fill out your own list and perhaps you will put yourself at the head of it.

Why husbands let their wives henpeck them must forever remain a mystery. No one can explain why a man who knows that he has far more intelligence, far more experience of the world and far better judgment than his wife will let her dominate him and make him do things that he knows are wrong. For can any one explain why a man will patiently endure being nagged about everything he does and leaves undone, and having every vestige of personal freedom even as to what he eats and drinks taken away from him. But he does

FLAME TRAIL

SYNOPSIS: Just as Ted Gaynor is desperately about to get a job, Kay Crandon stops him, gives him a place at the Lazy Nine. When her ranch house and barn burn, Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, invites her there—he wants to buy the Lazy Nine and marry Kay. She refuses, disdaining him, but young sister Babs and Aunt Kate gladly accept. Kay's hopes of rebuilding with the insurance money are dashed as it has to go toward the mortgage. Unknown to Kay, Ted fights for her good name in a bar. As they ride back to the ranch, he tells her Hastings is "a snake."

Chapter 10
TED'S PLAN CLICKS

TED Gay gazed at him with solemn eyes. "Uncle Dan told me not to breathe this, but I'm going to say it just once to you, and then never again until I have proof. I believe Josh Hastings had some connection with the fire that burned down the ranch house."

"Your Uncle Dan was right in warning you not to say that," Ted answered gravely. "You may be right, but an accusation like that could react on you like a boomerang and charge of dynamite combined, unless you have undisputed proof."

"I won't mention it again," Kay uttered in moderate even. Serve warm.

Answer: It is not considered good form to appear on the street of a city without a hat, and no smart person goes without gloves as well. In the country smart older women always wear both hat and gloves, but younger women and girls go hatless and gloveless more often than not.

Fire Protection Agreements Will Terminate Nov. 1

Kaukauna Fire Department Will Confine Activities to City

Kaukauna—Notice was sent today to townships near Kaukauna and to all farmers who had agreements with the city to get fire protection, that any such agreements will be discontinued at 12 o'clock noon, Nov. 1, 1937. Townships not having such agreements were notified that the Kaukauna fire department would answer no calls out of the city limits.

Sending the notice follows the action of the city council Tuesday, when it voted to discontinue furnishing fire protection to rural districts outside the city. Agreements had existed with the Town of Buchanan and with several individuals until this time. Those towns and persons had agreed to pay $100 for every run the city makes.

A period of 90 days was established before the cancellation becomes effective so that the towns will have time to make provision for their own fire protection, the letter stated.

The agreement to exchange aid with nearby cities in case of necessity is not affected by this action.

75 Attend Picnic for Kaukauna City Employees

Kaukauna—About 75 persons attended the all-day picnic held yesterday for city employees and their families at High Cliff park. Workmen from the city utilities, from the municipal building, and from the various other city departments attended.

Mayor Lewis F. Nelson made a brief visit to the picnic, as did most of the aldermen and members of city commissions, who were all invited to attend by the employees. Lunch and supper were eaten at the grounds, and a softball game topped the afternoon activities.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. James Lang is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Transfer Credits of Two Kaukauna Grads

Kaukauna—Two more Kaukauna high school graduates of 1937 have indicated their intention of continuing school in September as they had their high school records sent to other institutions.

Miss Mildred Kilian had a transcript of her credits forwarded to Mercy Hospital, Oshkosh, where she will enter training for nursing.

Miss Margaret Ann Flanagan had her credits sent to Mount Mary college, Wauwatosa. Seven girls and no boys have had their credits sent out so far this summer.

Begin Connection Of Sewer Lines

Two Weeks of Preparatory Work to Precede Laying of Pipe

Kaukauna—Work was started this morning to connect the sewer which now runs into a cesspool at Tenth street and Main avenue to the main sewer system of the city after approval of the project was made at the meeting of the city council Tuesday.

Four men started today to dig a pit and to make preparations for building a pumphouse, as the sewage will have to be pumped from the low spot of the cesspool to the main line sewer at Tenth and Crooks avenue, two blocks away. The connection will make it possible for the sewage of Tanner's addition, which now runs into the cesspool, to flow to the new city treatment plant.

About two weeks of preparatory work will be necessary before the project will be ready for the digging of the sewer and the laying of pipe. Workmen will be taken from the city relief rolls and paid by the city for the project.

BUILD NEW WALK

Kaukauna—Construction work continued today on the new concrete sidewalk being built in the 200 block of West Ninth street. Laying of almost a complete block on the north side of the street was nearly finished last night, and forms were set up for laying concrete on a part of the block on the south side of the street.

NEW BACKSTOP

Kaukauna—Painting of the new backstop, built last week on the east softball diamond on the library playground, was done by a park commission workman yesterday, as the regular schedule of games at the playground was suspended.

Days Seem Long Now to Retired Railroad Man

Wings are Clipped On Two-Weeks-Old Pheasant Chicks

Kaukauna—First man in Kaukauna to be pensioned under the Railroad Retirement act of the federal government, Fred Finke, 226 Sarah street, is facing the problem of just what to do with his time right now, after having worked steadily in the Chicago and Northwestern railroad shops here for 36 years.

"The days are pretty long now," says Finke, who worked his last day for the railroad Friday, July 31. "But I'm going to visit my children for a while to get used to all this free time. It would be too hard on a man just to do nothing after he's been working that long."

Looking back on the days since he began working as a laborer in 1901, Finke, now 66, recalls how for 22 years he walked two miles to work each day from his home in the country. He moved into Kaukauna in 1923.

Recalls Strike

The big railroad strike after the war stands out as one of the most exciting times in his 36 years at the shops. "We picketed the railroad yards for two and a half months at that time, but there wasn't any violence. We had to stay off the railroad property."

After his first five years as a laborer in the shops, Finke became a machine operator, doing wood work in the car repair department. He held this position until the main shops moved out of Kaukauna in 1928. Since that time he has been doing smaller repair jobs there.

Visiting will take up the retired man's time for the next couple months. "I have to keep busy to get over the first nervousness of not having anything to do," he explains. "In the first place I smoke too much. Then, when I don't work food doesn't taste good either."

He has a son and two daughters in Chicago, and he plans to visit with them for a while. After that he will spend some time with another son at Shawano.

Finke is the first Kaukauna man to be retired under the Railroad Retirement act, which went into effect July 1, after it was upheld by the supreme court in spring. The act sets the retirement age at 65, the former car repairer lives with the family of his step son, Arthur Nagel. His wife died a short time ago.

Kaukauna—A slight decrease in river traffic occurred during July as bridge openings numbered 165, a total 15 less than the 180 openings during June. The greater share of the traffic is that of coal hauling barges, although a number of yachts have traveled through Kaukauna during July, according to Elmer Johnson, Lawe street bridge tender.

Most yachts do not need the bridge to be opened, Johnson said, although one with a 50-foot mast passed through yesterday.

Adventures of Grizzly Adams

V-THE CAPTURE OF SAMSON

To capture a bear cub is one thing, but to capture a fullgrown bear is another and harder thing. Grizzly Adams decided to see whether he could get a big grizzly alive.

After adjusting the trap, I spent two night in waiting, but did not see the animal. In the middle of the third night, however, I was waked out of a sleep by a terrific roaring. It was the greatest roaring and echoing I had ever heard in the mountains, except for a thunderstorm the summer before. "Jumping up, I ran out of the tent, lighted my torch, and went toward the trap. As I came near, the bear made a lunge, and I thought for a moment that he would burst out, but the trap held fast. "For a week, I watched the trap night and day. One of my friends brought me food and water. The bear was violent, biting and tearing at the logs with his teeth and claws. On the eighth or ninth day, however, his spirits seemed to weaken and he was willing to accept his fate. "For a long time, I kept him in the trap in which he was caught. When my business called me to another part of the country, I hired four woodcutters who were in the region to feed him. A month after that, I fell safe in putting him in a cage, and hauling him away. "The bear was given the name of Samson, being named after the strong man told about in the Bible. We may feel sure that neither Samson nor Hercules would have enjoyed a fight with such a beast. Adams declared that the animal weighed over 1,500 pounds. (For Adventure section of your scrapbook.) "The leaflet called "Your Body at Work" may be had by sending a 2c stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper. "It was now the middle of November, and the rainy season had set in. We feared the grizzly had left the region, but one morning we found he had been in the trap. His tracks were plainly to be seen, but for some reason which we could not explain, the trap had not been sprung.

Adams was Awakened by the Loud Roaring of a Bear.

The bear's tracks were seen in a small valley containing trees, bushes and rocks. The size of the imprints showed their owner must be a big fellow. After lying behind a rock for an hour and a half, Adams saw the bear coming near, and it was a monster, indeed. The hunter slipped away, and told the man with him at camp that he believed he had found a regular trail followed by the animal. They joined him in cutting trees and sawing logs with which to build a trap. Let Grizzly Adams tell the rest of the story: "It was now the middle of November, and the rainy season had set in. We feared the grizzly had left the region, but one morning we found he had been in the trap. His tracks were plainly to be seen, but for some reason which we could not explain, the trap had not been sprung.

School Nurse Recommends Continuation of Health Education

Menasha — Communicable diseases have "been at a minimum during the last year," according to the annual school health report placed before the board of education last night by Mrs. Sigrid Dudley, school nurse.

Parents are responding more quickly and willingly to the health program carried on for school children during the year, Mrs. Dudley states in her report.

Recommendations that health education, which is confined chiefly to the elementary grades, be continued through the high school and that health examinations should be encouraged for all students, especially for those active in physical education, are contained in the report.

The importance of tuberculin tests, dental hygiene program, milk lunches at grade schools, and the distribution of health education material such as reference books, texts, posters, magazines, and bulletins for use in the schools is stressed.

According to Mrs. Dudley, the annual tag day which provides money for the Menasha Child Welfare Fund will be held soon.

Watch 2,700 Children

Following are some of the statistics gleaned from the report:

Number of children under health supervision in the schools, 2,763; visits to school children during year, 1,047; visits for non communicable diseases, 696; visits for tuberculosis, 70; number of meetings attended by nurse, 18; classes on American Red Cross and home hygiene and care of sick held, 8; vaccination and toxoid treatments, 664; tuberculin testing, with local physicians assisting, 1,274; schools assigned to nursing service, 7.

Children attending crippled children's clinic at Appleton, 7; those receiving diphtheria prevention, 325; small pox vaccination, 338; those having defective vision, 133 (37 corrected); bad hearing, 5; throat, 375 (152 corrected); teeth, 387; eyes, 5; nutrition, 30; gums, 54; nasal passages, 74; cervical glands, 42; skin, 113 (all corrected); deformities, 9 (three were improved).

Menasha Society

Menasha — Installation of officers will feature the 8 o'clock Monday evening meeting of Germania Benevolent Association at the Germania hall. A social hour will follow the meeting.

James Grode, Oak street, was guest of honor at a party Wednesday evening when friends gathered at his home to help him celebrate his birthday anniversary. Cards were played. Those attending included Carl and Mrs. Grode, Joseph Liebi, High Van Avery, Douglas Tuchscherer, Allan B. Adams and Jerome Grode.

Mrs. Ada Herman and Mrs. Nellie Strong won prizes in the card games played at the Sunshine club meeting at the home of Mrs. Amelia Fraser, Nicollet boulevard, Thursday afternoon. Games were played after cards and Mrs. Fraser served a luncheon.

Members of the Missionary Circle Trinity Lutheran church, brought in donations and made further plans for donations for Christmas bazaar sales when they met Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Some of the articles were priced and marked for the bazaar. Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Page, Mrs. A. Smith and Mrs. E. Sternhagen.

Two New Teachers are Hired by School Board

Menasha — Two new teachers were hired by the board of education at a meeting last night in Jefferson school.

Miss Frances Nickel, who has been teaching at Marinette for the last five years, will fill the vacancy in the fifth grade at Nicolet school left by the death of Miss Mabel Miller at Rhinelanders this summer. Miss Nickel's home is in Oshkosh and she is a graduate of the Oshkosh State Teachers college.

Miss E. Naomi Parkinson of Mineral Point, Wis., will teach kindergarten at Jefferson school. She has been a teacher in the public schools at Richmond Center and is a graduate of the Milwaukee State Teachers college.

Holderby on Job At Sewage Plant

New Superintendent Confers With Twin City Commission Today

Menasha — Jess M. Holderby, new superintendent of the Twin City sewage treatment plant, arrived last night from Madison and this afternoon attended the meeting of the sewage commission at which it was expected that action would be taken on the appointment of a staff of men to assist him.

Holderby, 36, who has worked as a sanitary engineer for the state board of health for the last 10 years and was formerly with the Chicago sanitary district, said this morning he would return to Madison tonight after the meeting. He stated he would take charge of the plant Sept. 1.

The $381,000 sewage plant is ready for operation now. Workmen are finishing walls and ceilings and installing furnishings in the 2-story buildings. The two giant settling tanks are completed. Grading and embankment work on the grounds is in progress this week. Although the plant will probably start running within a few weeks, it will be some time before all the sewer lines in the two cities are connected to it. New sewers are being installed at the present time in several places in the Twin Cities and more projects remain to be finished.

Neenah to Make New Pennant Bid In Appleton Game

Merchants Seek Win in Northern Valley League Tilt Sunday

Neenah — After being dumped from the lead in the Northern Valley league last Sunday by the Oshkosh Cubs, the Neenah Merchants will make a bid to get back in the title race with a win over The Green-Taverns at Appleton Sunday afternoon.

Although Appleton turned in a win over Grand Chute last week, it has not had much success with the top flight teams, and is holding down fifth place in the league standing with five wins and nine losses.

Neenah will have the edge in Sunday's tilt because of previous wins over the Appleton aggregation. If the Oshkosh drops a game to Grand Chute, which is unlikely, Neenah will again take over the lead. Oshkosh is in first place with 10 wins and five losses while Neenah has 9 wins and five losses.

Pitchers will be scarce Sunday with Schultz nursing a sore hand and Jerome taking care of a torn muscle in his shoulder. However, Schultz will start on the mound and Jimmy Christofferson will take his position behind the rubber. Other boys who will see action are: K. Handler, B. Handler, E. Garzke, R. Babcock, G. Haupe, J. Christofferson, H. Cheslock, L. Gammy and Menning.

Police Make 37 Arrests in July

Drunkness Heads Charges Brought by Menasha Authorities

Menasha — People behaved better in July than in June. If arrests made by the city police department can be used as a criterion. Three of these were for drunken driving, and disorderly conduct tied for second place with five each.

One arrest was made for each of the following charges during the month: failure to observe stop-and-go light, vagrancy, reckless driving, larceny, breaking and entering, abandonment, hit-and-run driving.

The police car traveled a distance of 2,538 miles during the month, on an average of more than 92 miles a day. Eight merchants' doors were found open after hours. Property valued at $418.50 was recovered and returned to the owners. Five cases of larceny were reported, six transients were housed, and a total of 82 complaints were answered during the month.

Report to Board Shows Increase in School Census

Menasha Has 3,254 Children Between 4 and 20 Years Old

Menasha — An increase of 31 in the number of school children during the last year is noted in the annual census report submitted to the board of education at its meeting last night.

A total of 3,254 children of school age, from four to 20 years of age, are listed for 1937, compared with the 1936 figure of 3,223.

The figures in the 1937 census by wards, including children from four to 20 years of age, are as follows: first ward, 414; second ward, 795; third ward, 606; fourth ward, 959; fifth ward, 460.

The number of pre-school children, up to four years of age, fell during the year, the report shows. There are at present 586 children of that age classification in the city, compared to last year's figure of 646, a decrease of 60. Of this year's total, 302 are boys and 284 are girls.

There are nine pairs of twins of pre-school age and seven pairs of school age in the city, according to the census.

Old 'Bucket of Blood' Becomes 'Grogge Shop'

Helena, Mont. — (G)—Now that saloons are legal in Montana, once again liquor dispensers are looking for something new in names. In the old days the "Bucket of Blood" was considered tops among the monickers. Saloons also were called "The Sawdust Pit" and "Hogan's Hangout."

But fashion has turned the sign painter's mind toward higher things. The dude business probably had something to do with it, old-time bartenders say.

"Ye Olde Grogge Shoppe," the "Green Buffet" and the "Shiny Saloon" are some of the names that have replaced the more startling Montana ones.

Round Up Suspects in Joyce Roberts Slaying

Milwaukee — (G)—Authorities today were rounding up all men recently discharged from prison after serving terms for sex crimes in their search for the slayer of 11-year-old Joyce Roberts. The child was strangled Saturday and her body thrown into a river.

A house-to-house canvas of Milwaukee county is being continued, Sheriff Edward Mitten said, in the search for possible clues.

More than 60 suspects have been questioned and released. No one was in custody today and authorities admitted they were without a tangible clue.

Palestine Won't Be Carved if U.S. Jews Can Help It

American Group Pessimistic but They Say Matter Isn't Closed

BY WILLIAM MCGAFFIN
New York — (G)—To American Jews, who have put up a fifth of the $400,000,000 stake for the Palestine homeland project, just what does the proposed partition of Palestine mean?

I tried to find out by talking with Dr. Stephen S. Wise and other leaders of Jewry in New York—some of those who have been most active in the project.

Most American Jews, they told me, feel their race has been cast again in the age-old role of the persecuted.

See Race Betrayed
Just as they were getting a national home nicely started in Palestine, the British came along with the proposal to cleave the country in three — about a third for the Jews, two-thirds for the Arabs, and a small portion for British.

That is what is Britain's "out" for conflict in the Middle East. It makes no difference to the Jews that the proposed Jewish sovereign state is expected by experts to accommodate between two and three millions persons — not much less than the three million eventual capacity of Palestine under the present arrangement. They still feel they have been betrayed.

Refuse Alternative
Then why not go somewhere else and start another home? The idea is not new. Birobidjan, a small Russian Jewish colony on the Siberian-Manchoukuo border, and Madagascar have been suggested as likely spots. But most Jews reject them completely — just as they turned thumbs down on Uganda, in Africa 30 years ago.

"A home," says Dr. Wise, "is not a national home unless it bears within itself the memories, traditions, language and climate which made its inhabitants a national group." That means to the Jews there can be no other national home than that on the Mediterranean.

10,000 Americans There
Contribution of American Jews to the re-creation, as they put it, of the national home has been more of a financial than a physical one.

Spared of the baiting which has forced many Central European Jews into exile, only some 10,000 American Jews have gone to Palestine.

Biography, Travel, Plays Lead in Popularity Among Patrons of Neenah Library

Neenah—Neenah residents, from the adults to the small boy who wanted to read "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" because he thought it would be "a swell football story," are reading-conscious even in the summer when mental relaxation is apt to walk hand in hand with physical relaxation according to Miss May Hart, local librarian.

Non-fiction, particularly biography, travel and plays, leads in popularity among the reading public in the city. A noticeable increase in

14,000 Swimmers Used Neenah Beach During Last Month

Increase of 4,000 Over June Reported by Superintendent

Neenah—Swimmers at the Neenah Municipal Bathing beach during the month of July totaled 14,071 making an average of 452 swimmers per day, according to Ole Jorgensen, superintendent.

This figure shows an increase over the month of June of over 4,000 swimmers. Water temperatures last month were from 84 to 88 degrees during the first part of the month and went down to 72 during the last week. The temperature at present it from 72 to 75 degrees.

A sample bottle of water taken from the beach was sent to the state board of health at Madison and was returned last week with a satisfactory report. The superintendent reported that although Lake Winnebago is 18 inches lower than at the start of the swimming season, the water is still clean and shows no signs of being "green."

The buddy system, a plan for the protection of swimmers, has been set up at the beach by the superintendent. Under the system, all persons who enter the water, swim in pairs with each constantly checking on the whereabouts of the other.

Class A boats will be raced over a triangular course of four miles. All other classes will race over a course of three miles, two laps totaling six miles. In any race, should the leading yacht not complete the course in three hours in class A and in two hours for other classes, the judges will declare no race.

An amateur show in which employees and members of their families will participate will be held at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Thirteen acts have already been scheduled, members of the committee on arrangements reported yesterday. Prizes will be awarded for the best performances.

light fiction and magazine reading is also a part of the summer activity of borrowers at the local library but for the most part, Neenah people keep in step with the parade of books that are most important in the literary activity of the world.

Most popular among the non-fiction books at the library this summer has been "The American Doctor's Odyssey" which has had an exceptionally long run with 17 names still on the waiting list.

"Gone With the Wind" The Neenah library has nine copies of the well-advertised book, "Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell, 5 of the copies being rental and 4, regulation two week loans.

Over 200 people have read the rental copies and 25 names are still on the waiting list. It would be difficult to estimate how many people have loaned the other 4 copies. Reaction to this much discussed novel has been everything from "terrible" to "I would like to order three copies."

Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People" is a non-fiction book that has been very popular among both adults and young people since it has been placed on the shelves at the local library.

David Windsor who tossed aside a throne for love and started that expression "at long last," is an interesting personality to Neenah residents if the steady annual rental call for "King Edward VIII," a biography, is at all indicative.

Hillis' Book Popular — Margaret Hillis' book, "Orchids on Your Budget" is another popular book at the Neenah library and may become a more widely read book than its author's first tome, "Live Alone and Like It."

"We Are Not Alone" by James Hilton who is better known, perhaps, for his book, "Lost Horizons," is a favorite fiction book of Neenah readers this summer.

A book that promises to be almost as popular as "Gone With the Wind" and is not nearly as lengthy is Wilkie's "And So Victoria," an English and French historical novel of the years up to the time of Queen Victoria.

Because Clark Gable and Myrna Loy, two of the movie goers most beloved actors, are in the leading roles of the movie version of "Parade" may be the reason for the popularity of this biography which with local readers are renewing acquaintance this summer.

Little Poetry Demand — Poetry is one field of literature that the general public is wary of and very few books are taken out by readers at the Neenah library but those who do find enjoyment and cultural interest in poetry, are not forgotten by library officials when books are being purchased and the best poetry collections and book length poems can be found on the shelves.

Like the persistent river, the popularity of detective and mystery stories "goes on forever" according to the librarian and the intelligent and the average reader are sisters under the skin when it comes to a witty and cleverly written crime detection story.

Eagerly awaited by young and old alike are the current plays and especially during the summer are these books given wide circulation among the library's borrowers.

The books that get the most strenuous use at the Neenah library are the dictionaries and puzzle fans have been so busy peering into them this spring and summer that it became necessary to purchase two new unabridged dictionaries, according to Miss Hart.

100 Attend Outing of Neenah E. R. A. Assembly

Neenah — About 100 members and guests of the Neenah assembly No. 1, Equitable Reserve association, attended an outing held Thursday evening at High Cliff. Prizes for attendance were awarded to Mary Vogel and Hazel B. Pace. Another outing is being planned for Aug. 19 at High Cliff park.

Petition for New Walk On Part of Water Street

Neenah—A petition for side walk on W. North Water street from River street 300 feet west has been signed by all the property owners and is on file at the office of City Clerk H. S. Zemlock. The work will be started when the city sidewalk crew gets to that section of the city.

Oregon farmers made $3,000,000 raising seed crops in 1936.

boys and girls; 5 o'clock, amateur contest.

Picnic supper will be served starting at 5:45 and at 6:15 in the evening, a series of prizes will be awarded. A surprise stunt, the nature of which will not be known until its presentation, is scheduled for 6:30. The picnicers will climax the day with a dance which will open at the park pavilion at 7:15.

Children will be given balloons for souvenirs and each person attending the picnic will receive five tickets which can be exchanged for pop, ice cream, and candy bars.

Officials to Inspect North Section of City

Menasha—Members of the city council, planning commission, and H. O. Haugh, city health officer, will make a joint inspection in the north section of the city Saturday afternoon where residents are demanding a new street from Sixth to Ninth between Appleton and De Pere and are claiming that some unsanitary conditions exist.

At Tuesday night's council meeting, several of the residents of that vicinity personally asked the council to take action on both matters. The council voted to make the inspection before taking any steps.

Junior Group to Release 150 Pheasants in County

Neenah—Members of the junior group of the Neenah conservation association within the next two weeks, according to Armin Gerhardt, playground director. The birds were raised and are now in condition to be liberated. It is expected that the pheasants will be released near Larson and Winchester.

James Doty Cabin Attracts Visitors From 25 States

Neenah — Approximately 2,300 persons from 131 cities in 25 states and the District of Columbia have visited the Doty cabin in Doty park according to Harvey Leaman who is in charge at the cabin this summer. An average of 9 persons per hour for each day since the cabin has been opened for tourists has been tabulated. The largest number of persons to visit the Neenah home of the early governor, James Doty, in one day was 208 during four hours on a Sunday afternoon. About 50 persons were guided through the historic home Wednesday.

In the register which is being kept by Mr. Leaman, the names of visitors from as far west as Seattle, Wash., and Oakland, Calif., as far south as Savannah, Ga., and as far east as Portland, Maine, are recorded. Among the first visitors to the cabin this summer was Mrs. Anita Willets Burnham, artist, author and lecturer from Winnetka, Ill., who was a guest of Mrs. Mark Catlin, Appleton.

Take Pictures — One party of visitors from California, finding the cabin closed on Monday, returned later in the week and took motion pictures of the interior and exterior. Many of the visitors have heard about the cabin from friends and stop in Neenah while on trips to see the famous Wisconsin log house.

Elderly people are most interested in the cabin and its furnishings. They spend an hour or more going through the rooms and reminiscing about "way back when." Some of the older women show Mr. Leaman how their mothers worked spinning wheels or relate incidents about their own childhood homes. Many visitors come out of curiosity and do not stay long.

Mr. Leaman has written a brief history of Governor Doty which he has placed on the wall in the living room of the home. Several persons in this vicinity have loaned articles of the 1850 period to the cabin and plans are being pushed to furnish the home as a home and as nearly as possible with the original pieces, he said. A recent acquisition for the cabin is an early sewing machine, last patented in 1854, which was donated by a local resident.

See Indian Curios — Children too have been frequent visitors at the Doty cabin this morning but their chief interest is in the Indian curios room on the upper floor and in the organ in the living room of the house for many of these young people, particularly a 15 year old girl from Illinois, have never seen an organ.

Among the cities represented by visitors this summer are Akron, Ohio; Alexandria, Va.; Altoona, Pa.; Amherst, Antigo, Appleton, Baltimore, Md.; Belvidere, Ill.; Brittan, S. D.; Chicago, Cleveland, O.; Detroit, Mich.; Duluth Minn.; Ely, Minn.; Evansville, Ind.; Fargo, N. D.; Galena, Ill.; Greenville, Mich.; Hammond, Ind.; Hayes Kans.; Highwood Mont.; Hobart Ind and Hobart Okla.; Louisville Ky.; McLaughlin S. D.; Minneapolis, Minn.;

Eagles Will Meet Grand Chute Nine

Menasha Squad to Play at Manitowish Saturday, Neenah Sunday

Menasha — The Menasha Eagles will play Grand Chute in a Northern Valley league game at Washington park in Neenah Sunday afternoon.

Tied for third place after their double victory over the Thomas Drugs team of Green Bay last Sunday, the Eagles will be out to even things with the Grand Chute team. The Chutes defeated the local squad 9-5 in a game played earlier this season.

The Menasha team has a record of 8 wins and 7 losses, a percentage of .533, thus far in the season. Grand Chute is trailing the 6-team league, having won three games and dropped 10. Oshkosh, by virtue of its victory over Neenah, is back at the top of league standings.

Before playing in Northern Valley league competition Sunday, the Eagles will meet the Manitowish Blues there Saturday afternoon. The teams have a home-and-home agreement and will meet at Washington park in Neenah Saturday, August 14.

Greenville County league at Seymour (10 a. m.)

THURSDAY'S GAME
Seymour at New London (8:30 p. m.)

THE feature game of the Northern Land O' Lakes league will be staged at Seymour at 10 a. m. Sunday as part of the attractions at the fair when Krakow comes to Seymour. Krakow has two wins over Seymour this year and beat them out of a tie for the first half with a win in the last game of the half. Seymour is determined this time not to let Krakow stop them in their dash for the pennant.

Seymour has been handicapped by each of their other games with Krakow by having two or three regulars absent but Sunday the team will be intact with Bowers pitching, Hartjes catching, Hammen on first, Nickodem second, Vande Walle, shortstop, Gertz on third, and Ralph Puls, Kelly and Palmer in the outfield. This lineup will give Seymour 7 men hitting over .300 and an air tight defense.

Bondue and Cecil is always a battle when the two teams meet. Gillett is expected to break into the win column Sunday at Oconto Falls' expense.

Saturday at the Seymour fair Seymour will meet their old county league rival, Greenville. Last year at the fair game Greenville defeated Seymour by a 2 to 1 score and the Seymour team will be out for revenge. Kelly will pitch for Seymour with Hartjes catching. Greenville is expected to import a battery for this game.

Thursday night, Aug. 12, Seymour goes to New London for a night game. They are very anxious to make a good showing against New London as they are interested in getting a franchise in the Wolf River Valley league next year. Either Kelly or Bowers will pitch this game with Hartjes catching. The Seymour team is selling tickets in advance for this game and they expect to take a couple hundred fans with them to New London.

Jake Powell Expects to Return to Yanks Today

New York—(AP)—Outfielder Alvin (Jake) Powell sported a badly damaged left ear today but said he was ready to get back into the New York Yankee lineup at once. Changes are he will be out a few days.

A wild pitch delivered by Monte Stratton of the Chicago White Sox "beamed" Powell flush on the ear yesterday.

Powell had his wounds dressed in a hospital but returned to see the finish of the game. Last night, H. F. Prosser, Antigo 46 40 75.

Victory Over Little Chute

CLINTONVILLE—Clintonville of the Wolf Valley league nosed out Little Chute of the Northern State circuit 5 to 4 in a hectic 11-inning exhibition game here last night. Little Chute led 3 to 1 to the eighth inning when the count was tied and both teams scored in the eleventh, with the FWD squad counting two runs in its half of the frame for the margin of victory.

Little Chute enjoyed its lead up to the eighth when a barrage of blows drove Dago Schuler to the showers and his brother, Eddie, then took a turn on the mound. Tomlin's single in the single in the winning run.

Clintonville immediately dickered with the Little Chute management for another game in which Dick Weisgerber, regular hurler, will be used on the mound. Weisgerber played first base in place of Peotter, who couldn't make the trip to the FWD city.

Neither team was able to use its scoring punch in the first three innings, but Clintonville showed Gretzinger across the plate in the fourth after three safe hits. Little Chute came back in the sixth when Bongers started a 3-run rally with his single. Bob Lamers hit a homer to score two runs and Jack Lamers followed with a double. He went to third on a passed ball and scored when Baker Versteegen clouted a long fly into left field.

In the eighth, Clintonville tied up the ball game when four singles in a row scored two runs. Little Chute tallied on two doubles in the eleventh, with Jack Lamers coming home on Versteegen's blow. Gehrt doubled to start the Clintonville half of the inning and Peteka walked. Tomlin's drive into left field scored both runners.

It is expected that the two teams will clash again Sunday night with Tomlin opposing Weisgerber.

A virtual championship game will be played at 5:45 this evening when the Woolen Mills and the Post-Tuttle crew lock horns. Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Home is the sailor, home from the sea, and the hunter from the hill. Or, to put it another way, Robert Taylor is making a picture on his home lot.

It's an "A" picture, with Joan Crawford. He did one other picture with Joan on the Metro lot, but that was four years ago. This time it looks as if he has "arrived."

The other night a preview audience, which had just seen "I Met Him in Paris," spontaneously applauded when Young stepped on the screen in a supporting role. Two years ago an exhibitor told me the best way he knew to draw a crowd and tear on his seats was to put Robert Young's name on the marquee.

Bob himself, after six years in this upside-down business, is a little wary. "I've had spurts like this before," he says. "This time I hope it's the real thing, but—do you know the motto of the Palm Springs Yacht Club?"

(It's "You're only as good as your last picture.") He believes it. "If you like mottos," says Bob, "that's a good one to frame." He has traveled a great deal, by land and by sea, since he broke into pictures as a juvenile of 24. He crossed the ocean for a couple of English pictures, and by land he's traveled all over Hollywood. When

Metro wasn't using him in "B" pictures he was easily borrowed. "I liked it," he says. "I've had experience I couldn't have had any other way. I figure that in 42 pictures I've had 36 different directors, and learned — I hope — something different from each of them. On the lot here I'd have had about 10, no more. Right now I'm working under the only woman director, Dorothy Arzner, and that's another experience."

Doesn't Know Why He has no great theory to explain the long doldrums he experienced professionally, nor to throw light on the sudden change in his fortunes. Unless for the latter, it's Wesley Ruggles and "I Met Him in Paris." Actors don't really have theories about such things, he says. They may make them up, but most of them go along from day to day, do their job as well as they can, and play golf in the interim, hoping their luck will last. They don't observe and take stock periodically, and neither does he.

Right now, for instance, he's concerned about a vacation. He's had a number of brief ones, but never a vacation he could call his own. He's always had to be within hailing distance of a telephone, so the studio could call him back. That went for his honeymoon, too. And he was called back.

This time, if he gets a vacation, he's going to disappear. Maybe rent a trailer, and take his family along.

—Mrs. Young and little Carol Ann and the baby—that's due in September.

The visitor at Paramount had inquired of W. C. Fields whether his nose were real or putty.

"Madame," said Fields, "I am surprised. I acquired this nose with a great deal of expense and trouble through the use of secret formulas."

Newspaper Guild Ends

Its Strike at Decatur

Decatur, Ill.—(P)—The three-week old strike called by the Decatur unit of the American Newspaper Guild ended Thursday by a 6 to 4 vote of the 10 remaining strikers.

Don Stevens, guild organizer, said "it was the first strike loss by the American Newspaper Guild in four years."

Edward Lindsay, editor at the Herald and Review, morning and evening papers under the same ownership, said the strikers would be permitted to return to work under the papers existing conditions, which he said included a 40-hour, 6-day week with minimum salaries ranging up to $40 for men with five years' service.

The guild sought a signed contract providing for a closed shop, minimum wages and maximum hours.

Rooster Gets Ride On Fire Truck but It's His Last Trip

New London — The New London Fire department had something to crow about Wednesday night when it returned from the $10,000 fire that destroyed the farm buildings, grain and machinery on the farm of Ferdinand Koehler at Bear Creek corners. After arriving home the firemen backed the pumper into the fire station and started to take out the hose to put on the drying racks when they discovered a big white rooster sitting peacefully on one of the chemical fire extinguishers. Coming into the brilliantly lighted fire house after the 10-mile ride in the truck, Mr. Koehler thought, no doubt, it was time to awaken the farm hands. He was a trifle out of tune, not being used to city ways, but the firemen pronounced his crowing a good job. Gerald Dent said, "no doubt he is crowing in appreciation of the good work we did in saving his boss' house and garage." Leo Herres, pipeman on the pumper, took the rooster home, however, and his family had chicken and dumplings for dinner yesterday.

Prepare Manual On Conservation

Believe Work Completed For Schools Here Is First of Kind in State

A manual entitled "Conservation," has been prepared for use in Appleton schools, according to superintendent of schools, B. J. Rohan. The manual is designed for use in the first six grades.

Appleton grade teachers aided in its making, under the direction of Miss Martha Sorenson, grade supervisor, and Miss Agnes Jones.

The manual coordinates material already in existence into a conservation point of view, and presents it in a manner suitable for grade instruction.

"As far as we know," Mr. Rohan said, "this is the first conservation manual to be used in Wisconsin."

Sweet omelets are general favorites. Add one tablespoonful of sugar to the regular omelet batter. When the omelet is cooked cover it with fresh fruits or berries sprinkled with sugar. Serve it immediately — with syrup, honey or whipped cream. (Fruits may also be used as a filling if the omelet is served half turned over.)

Babson Predicts Continued Rise In Living Costs

Average Family's Expenses Have Jumped 24 Per Cent From 1933

BY ROGER BABSON
Babson Park, Mass.—Living costs this fall and winter should be substantially higher than at present. All statistics point to this conclusion. Some divisions of the family budget, of course, will not suffer as much as others, but the sum total of the various advances will be considerable. Rents and household furnishings probably will lead the parade. Moreover, I see no hope that this fall's mark-up will bring to an end the upswing in living costs which began in 1933.

Few people realize that the average family's expenses have jumped 24 per cent from the low of 1933. What $1 would have bought during the bank holiday now costs $1.24. This slashing of the dollar's buying power has cut down the average factory worker's wage increase of 96 per cent in dollars to 50 per cent in goods. It is a good illustration of the old axiom that "everything has its advantages and its disadvantages." Higher wages result in higher material costs which jack up the cost of living. Pay and salary increases have thus in part been offset.

Best August Since '29
No one can deny that the nation is far better off today than it was four years ago despite this rise in living costs. Activity was above normal in July while this month's business has opened with the biggest rush of any August since 1929. Payrolls, dividends and farm income have come up far more than the cost of living. Rising prices are usually a companion of improving business. Higher living costs are not an alarming sign unless they out-distance the improvement in wholesale prices and in national income. So far this has not been the case.

At wholesale, food prices have recorded a 58 per cent mark-up since the low of 1933. At retail, food is 44 per cent higher; clothing costs are up 27 per cent. Shortage of good house space and the high cost of building have lifted rents 38 per cent over the low. Household furnishings are also considerably higher—about one-fourth. Miscellaneous items are now slowly pushing ahead, but fuel and light remain almost unchanged from the depression lows. In the last six months, rents and clothing have led the parade. Yet living costs have not matched the rise in the general price level or in the national income.

Gap Should Narrow
The really astonishing fact is that living costs have not jumped more than they have. Against the total increase of 24 per cent, wholesale prices have been pushed ahead 46 per cent since the national income has nearly doubled. The logical outcome to expect now is that this gap between wholesale and retail prices will gradually narrow. Take bread for instance. The price today is only nine cents a loaf, up 34 per cent from the 1933 low. Yet, the basic ingredient, wheat, has jumped 175 per cent in price. But the other costs of bread-making, such as milk, salt, overhead, trucking, and taxes have not been boosted as much as wheat. Payrolls and taxes are the "ingredients" to watch! Furthermore, better volume has helped to offset some of the higher "other costs".

Gradually all these "other charges" are slowly edging upward. Replacement of machinery, general repair work, and a host of miscellaneous manufacturing costs, which are not sensitive, are all moving ahead. Sooner or later bakeries will have to jack up the retail price of bread again. The same story is true of many other "business" necessities. Even slow changes in the price level of sensitive commodities take many months to seep down through the entire economic system. Readers will probably remember that the goods which are slow in going up today are the same ones which were the last to go down during the depression. For this reason, commodity price adjustments are always painful and upsetting.

Efficiency Helps
Readers may well ask who has absorbed the tremendous difference in the wholesale and retail price levels. Raw material producers are doing better; wholesalers are prosperous again; labor is better off; and manufacturers are reporting excellent earnings. The answer to the mystery is that the increase in volume has reduced the cost of production. Every industry does better doing a huge business at a small profit than by doing a small business at a larger profit. Increased efficiency all along the line has enabled business to take care of a portion of the higher operating costs without passing all alone to the consumers. This is why it has been possible to increase wages without increasing living costs correspondingly.

Now, however, I fear that the time has come when the price of higher operating costs will force the mark-up of goods which still do not begin to reflect the increase in labor, material, and overhead costs. How much such mark-ups will boost the cost of living this fall and winter no one can say definitely. I would not be surprised if total living costs a year from now may be 7 to 10 per cent above today's level. The scientist and inventors are our only hope for keeping down living costs.

Therefore, the decline in commodity prices from the March peak seems to have pretty well run its course. Inflationary factors and increased foreign trade should not be forgotten. Hence, readers should act now to protect themselves. Household should purchase furniture, clothing, canned goods, and fuel contracts now. Tenants should renew leases for as long a period as possible at current rentals. Remember that we are now just entering a period of prosperity the duration of which depends upon how much we learned from the recent depression. Continuing prosperity can exist only on a foundation of righteousness.

Oiling Project Is Half Completed

More Than 50 Miles of Calumet County Trunk Roads Conditioned

Chilton—About half of the county trunk highways are now oiled, or more than fifty miles. This county has one of the best highway systems in the state and one of the best kept. This week County Highway Commissioner Ray Jensen had his men oiling roads in front of the 42 cheese factories and bottling plants in the county, in compliance with the state law. All state highways in the county are being marked with the conventional black center stripe to aid traffic and to reduce accidents.

Three men appeared in justice court this week on charges of driving automobiles while intoxicated, and each was fined $100 and costs. With the alternative of 90 days in the county jail. Pegler Scores Carnes' Strikebreaking Stand

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—In a biography of John L. Lewis, written by Cecil Carnes, there are two pages dealing with the Herrin massacre of 1922, in which fourteen strikebreakers were shot by a firing squad of union men after their surrender under a flag of truce, two were hanged, and five others were taken to a cemetery and shot after being dragged along by ropes attached to an automobile.

Mr. Lewis himself formally deplored the butchery on behalf of his United Mine Workers and attempted to make it appear that the coal companies had hired secret agents to mingle with the union workers and provoke the slaughter of their own strikebreakers.

The strikebreakers were members of a union, but that union was in bad standing with the American Federation of Labor, just as Mr. Lewis' C. I. O. and this, in the opinion of Mr. Carnes, placed them outside the law. Mr. Carnes does not go that far, but by the same reasoning it would seem excusable, though perhaps indicative, of the members of the A. F. of L. to make war on the C. I. O. today, and, in the event of a surrender under a flag of truce, shoot, hang and torture the C. I. O. men.

Mr. Carnes does admit that the Herrin massacre was indecate. True, he calls the strikebreakers scabs, but the C. I. O. people would be scabs, too, in the eyes of the A. F. of L. if, in a jurisdictional fight between the two bodies, the C. I. O. should attempt to man the jobs and run the works. Strikebreaking is Risky, Carnes Says

"Strikebreaking," says he, "was a risky as well as a despicable business, and that is why higher wages were paid. The very fact that operators could go on at these inflated pay schedules indicated to the miners that all their economic troubles could be obviated if the operators were less greedy and there were no short-sighted laborers to cut the collective throat of regular workers."

"But just as silicosis and tuberculosis were occupational diseases among the miners, lead poisoning, a very sudden attack with sound effects, was that of the strikebreaker. It has been human weakness, even in lawful society, to fight murder with murder, and, in a strict sense, strikebreakers in the coal fields were murderers. If you help in the slaying you are in evidence, and strikebreaking is, per se, evidence."

So strikebreaking is murder, punishable by murder, and a strikebreaker, under the conditions used by Mr. Carnes in the Herrin case, is anyone who works on a struck job, even though he belongs to a union hostile to the union claiming jurisdiction in the plant. This seems a dangerous belief to apply to the labor field generally in this day, with many disputes in progress between two organizations each claiming 3,000,000 members.

"There were casualties on both sides," says Mr. Carnes, "and when the strikers finally captured some of the scabs they hanged them. It was very primitive murder, not as neat as, say, the executions of women in New York state's electric chair. But it was done just as finally. Coal mining, like starving, is primitive business."

Application of Theory Would Cause Bloodshed Aside from the demure understatement contained in the phrase, "there were casualties," Mr. Carnes indicates not only satisfaction over the massacre, but a belief which, extended to the recent Little Steel strike of the C. I. O., would have resulted in the worst slaughter this country has seen since the Civil war.

Indeed, Mr. Lewis' leaders in Youngstown intimated to President Roosevelt that any attempt to operate the plant would cause terrific violence and bloodshed, and it would appear that they must have expected the C. I. O. to take the offensive, because the non-union workers, who were regular employees and not imported strikebreakers, obviously had no intention to come outside and start shooting. On the contrary, they were the ones who wanted protection, and if it is murder, punishable by murder, for a man to stick to his job, they plainly needed protection. The retaliatory murder, of course, is not punishable.

Mr. Carnes' biography of Mr. Lewis is not official, and it is not fair to hold Mr. Lewis accountable for his curious enthusiasm for murder in a butchery more savage than the recent killings in south Chicago. Nevertheless, he does speak how large I do not know, in the radical labor movement which has been attracted to the C. I. O.

But still he only presents a puzzle, for the general application of Mr. Carnes' idea in the present rivalry would produce general slaughter on many fronts, with the victims conscientious union men and women all.

Revoke Licenses of 72 Auto Drivers in July

Seventy-two automobile drivers in Wisconsin had their licenses revoked during July, a report received by Chief of Police George T. Prim from the motor vehicle division of the department of state shows. Eighty-two suspensions and 62 reinstatements were reported. Twelve licenses were taken up for an indefinite period, and twenty-seven cars were reported stolen.

Commissioned officers in the U. S. army wore epaulettes until 1872 when they were replaced by shoulder knots in all uniforms except those of general officers.

Fire Chief Will Go to Convention

Village Board at Little Chute Authorizes Lenz To Attend

Little Chute—At a regular meeting of the members of the village board Tuesday evening it was decided to have Gregory Lenz, local fire chief, attend the state fire chiefs' convention at Wisconsin Dells. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the bills from the general accounts and water accounts were read and referred to the finance committee. The monthly report from the village treasurer was read and the monthly reports from the marshals were read.

All tavern keepers have been ordered to open their curtains or blinds at 1 o'clock and business men in the village have been asked to be more careful in locking their doors as many of them have been found unlocked in the past few months. Work on the WPA park project is progressing rapidly with funds still available for this purpose. Several "no parking" signs will be placed in certain parts of the village where parking is making it difficult for traffic to pass.

There were 3 deaths, 8 births and 4 marriages in the village during the month of July.

The next meeting of the village board will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Aug. 24. Business men must present their bills before Aug. 22 so the committees will have

The Hidden Principle of the Wages Bill

Nothing like the attention it deserves has been given to the fundamental principle of the wages bill. Its underlying theory is that an industry operating in a part of the country where money wages are high has some kind of right to invoke the power of the federal government to protect it from competitors who operate in a region where money wages are lower. In the guise of regulating interstate commerce the federal government is to assume the obligation of preventing the products of the low-wage competitors from being sold nationally. No one can say, of course, how much this power will actually be used. That is left to the board. And the board will therefore become the storm center of sectional rivalries and grievances, and the meeting place of pressure groups. Presumably, the board would begin modestly, and would attempt to deal only with the obvious cases of local exploitation and sweating, avoiding the difficult cases arising out of really serious differences of wage levels in various parts of the country. But while prudence, political resistance, and the unmanageable complexity of the task, may make the measure rather inconsequential, the important thing is that this is a beginning, like a first venture into tariff protection, of a radically new thing in American life. It is the adoption of the principle that the richer regions of the country may use the Federal power against the rising industrialism of the poorer regions of the country. Lobbyists Would Seek Regional Advantages. Hitherto, the use of the power to exclude goods from interstate commerce has been governed by a wholly different theory. The goods have been excluded because they were generally injurious and in order to protect all the people against them. But in this new venture we arrive at what amounts to the protection of one region against another region, and the acceptance of the principle that the manufacturers of a region where wages are low because of deep-seated economic causes may be penalized to the advantage of the manufacturers in more favored regions. This is a very dangerous principle. For it will call into existence a wholly new collection of lobbyists and pressure groups seeking to persuade the board to grant them some sort of regional advantage. We know from the history of tariffs—and this thing is fundamentally an internal tariff law—that once the protective tariff principle takes root, more and more special interests come to the seat of government clamoring for more and more special privileges. The minimum wage fixed under this bill may be fairly low; once under way, as in any tariff or in any subsidy or in any system of legal privileges, the whole pressure of politics will be to raise it. For the active interests behind this bill are the established industries in the richer sections of the country. And the real purpose of the measure, whether or not some of its sponsors realize it, is to obstruct competition from the new industrial South.

Will be Ironical if Democrats Hurt South
The south has been the victim these many years of the foreign tariffs established by the northern Republicans. It will be the irony of ironies if the Democratic Party now adds to the tariff which discriminates so heavily against Southern agriculture, an internal tariff, disguised as a law against sweating, which discriminates against the rise of Southern industry. Wins First Tilt in His Fight for Girl's Custody

Chicago —(AP)—A golden-haired little girl, released from an orphanage, joined her "flying father" Thursday to help him celebrate victory in the first skirmish of his legal fight to gain her permanent custody. John M. Hayes, Mahweh, N. J., sportsman, was granted temporary custody of the daughter, Patricia Ann, yesterday at a habeas corpus hearing by Judge Walter T. Stanton of the superior court. But he must appear in court again Aug. 12 on a fugitive warrant involving child stealing charges brought by his mother-in-law, Mrs. Charlotte Pendergast of San Francisco. Patricia Ann, whose mother died on June 25, has been in an orphanage since Hayes was seized here

Sunday, when he arrived with the little girl by airplane enroute east from California.

Reexamine Persons Who Receive Blind Pensions

Reexamination to determine continuing eligibility of persons receiving blind pension and to ascertain changes in their conditions that may necessitate provision for some additional assistance or treatment is being made in Outagamie and other counties in the state. Such examinations, which are made every two years, are practically completed in Outagamie county. More than 50 persons are receiving blind pensions in this county.
